

Hitler Maintains Strict Secrecy on Message
Next Sunday to Reich

Diplomatic Quarters in Europe Greatly Agitated Over What Nazi Dictator Will Say—Big Surprise Expected.

BID FOR COLONIES

Some Circles Say Hitler Negotiate with British for Return of Lost Colonies.

By WADE WERNER
Berlin, Feb. 14 (AP).—Jittery Europe is facing its third consecutive "Hitler week-end."

The German Fuehrer, weighing events of a feverish fortnight, maintained strict secrecy today on the message he will have for the nation and the world in his speech to the Reichstag next Sunday.

Speculation as to just what Hitler will say agitated diplomatic quarters, but secrecy as usual was his watchword. Official silence likewise surrounded results of Hitler's talks Saturday with Kurt Schuschnigg, Austria's chancellor, at Berchtesgaden, Der Fuehrer's Bavarian retreat.

One of these conditions, it was stated, would be a clarification of Germany's relations with Austria, assuring against any sudden aggression in that sector.

Settlement Favored

Premier Benito Mussolini of Italy, who was said to have urged the Schuschnigg-Hitler meeting, was described as favorable to a settlement by which Hitler would get colonies and Italy would get British recognition of the conquest of Ethiopia.

Propaganda ministry officials were content to hazard a guess that perhaps Hitler would mention the talks with Schuschnigg in his speech to the Reichstag.

Various explanations of the situation by persons customarily described as well-informed contradicted one another. There were two main versions:

That Hitler is nervous about his army and is in the mood to seize opportunities for conciliation with Austria—especially if they would facilitate negotiations with Britain on German demands for colonies.

That Hitler's army is stronger than ever since the shakeup which concentrated new power in his hands—and twice as dangerous—hence the willingness of Schuschnigg to climb the steep hill to Hitler's Berchtesgaden villa.

In Vienna it was said the Hitler-Schuschnigg talks strengthened Austria's position as the connecting, but still independent, link of the Rome-Berlin axis.

Regardless of who actually was afraid of whom in Europe and no matter what may be the actual state of military effectiveness of Hitler's army, most observers agreed that a week-end of persistent rumors about conditions within the army had weakened its effectiveness as an instrument of diplomacy.

Clearer Interpretation

The head of the official Austrian news agency, who accompanied Schuschnigg to Berchtesgaden, said today points discussed there were clearer interpretation of the Austro-German treaty of 1936, ending of Nazi propaganda and terrorism in Austria, and improvement of Austro-German economic relations.

The Austrian chancellor conferred yesterday with his cabinet on what appeared to have been the main point of the interview—
fulfillment of the 1936 accord which would allow the Nazi party to develop as it might as an internal Austrian party with German Nazis agreeing not to interfere.

Austria Believed to be Willing to work with Germany and Italy provided the two powers recognized the independence of Austria as an authoritarian, Christian state.

Main Street Under Water

Ordinarily a small stream, the Pajaro river, fed by 16 days of torrential rain, got to be more than five miles wide and swept over the main street of Watsonville, Calif., as shown above. Many shoppers were caught in stores and had to await rescue by boat. The storms have claimed 16 lives, flooded lowlands along a 400-mile stretch and left scores homeless.

Business Growth
Means Remodeled
Store for S. Gold

Samuel Gold, owner of Gold's Reliable Shop on Wall street, announced today that his women's wear store, a familiar landmark on Wall street for 15 years, would soon undergo complete remodeling both in the interior and the exterior of his shop. Mr. Gold stated that the step was necessary at this time due to increased business and the owner's desire to remodel his store into one of the most modern establishments of its kind in the Hudson valley.

Mr. Gold is one of Kingston's oldest business men, having been actively engaged in the women's apparel field for 25 years. He started with a small store on Main street a quarter century ago, and was at that location for 10 years before moving to his present quarters on Wall street.

The new store will be modernized through numerous alterations and workmen will begin remodeling the present structure within a short time. Prior to the actual remodeling, the store will conduct a 10 day special sale for the purpose of clearing stocks and selling old fixtures, etc., to make room for the new improvements.

The front of the store will be changed and the entire interior will be redecorated and refitted.
When completed, the upper floor will carry a complete line of upper priced dresses, coats, suits and hosiery, while the entire first floor will carry merchandise of a higher quality.

Mr. Gold said this morning that his remodeling sale would begin Wednesday morning and would continue for a 10 day period.

Will Recognize Conquest

Amsterdam, Feb. 14 (AP).—An announcement by the government press service today that diplomatic relations between the Netherlands and Italy "shortly will be regularized" was interpreted to mean the Netherlands is about to recognize Italy's conquest of Ethiopia.

Great Sino Battle Rages

Shanghai, Feb. 14 (AP).—The Japanese advance guard was reported on the north bank of the Yellow river after having shattered resistance of 15,000 Chinese troops and forced them to withdraw across the wide waters.

A bitter struggle was in prospect, as the Japanese must cross the river under fire. Bridges were blown up in the withdrawal of Chinese.

The Japanese army driving on Kaifeng, across the Yellow river, was one of five field forces pushing toward the Lunghai line, vital communication artery through the rich Central China agricultural region.

From the south, three Japanese armies were advancing from the Hwai river and reported new gains.

Other Measures Scheduled for Consideration of Assemblymen This Week

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 14 (AP).—
In the wake of Mohawk valley floods, Assembly leaders today scheduled immediate action on two proposals to continue state participation in the federal flood control program.

The members, listed for a vote tonight, would:

Continue until April 1, 1939,
the temporary state flood control commission created in 1936 to assist in a long range federal program.

Provide for state instead of county payment of costs for relocation and reconstruction of property in connection with flood control projects.

The Assembly prepared for prolonged debate and a vote tomorrow on the off-rejected resolution to ratify the federal child labor amendment. Sponsored by Democratic Assemblyman William T. Andrews, Harlem negre, its defeat is predicted.

Chief support for the proposal repeatedly defeated of which have cut across party lines in the Republican controlled Assembly, will come from the five-member American-Labor group.

The Democratic Senate is scheduled to vote Wednesday on Governor Lehman's proposed $386,000,000 budget, with its swift approval there and in the Republican-controlled Assembly predicted. The Assembly may act on the measure immediately after the Senate passes it.

Governor's Plan Tonight

The governor's proposal for modifying the capital gains and loss tax, part of his program for financing the budget, was expected to be introduced tonight. It would segregate capital gains from ordinary income in computing the tax, levying on such gains according to existing income tax brackets but at half the rates now assessed against normal income.

Disagreement over the governor's modification proposal and outright repeal of the tax proposed by Abbott Low Moffat, Republican chairman of the Assembly ways and means committee, will be aired at a public hearing on both proposals March 1.

Meantime, Assemblyman Phelps
Phelps, New York Democrat, said he would introduce a resolution calling upon President Roosevelt to call an international conference to adopt rules and regulations outlawing wartime attacks on civilians and large centers of population.

Under the resolution, the conference would also be asked to restrict the use of poison gas, high explosives, and incendiary shells and to provide an organization to make such rules effective.

Fair Wage for Laundries

Hartford, Conn., Feb. 14 (AP).—
The State Labor Department moved today to establish a minimum fair wage in the laundry industry, which employs about 3-000 women in Connecticut. Commissioner Joseph M. Tonn announced appointment of a board to recommend such a wage for women and minors, naming as members representatives of the public, the laundries and employees.

the New York Stock Exchange, in-

Mr. Beck has the rare ability of His years of association with the governors and employees of the New York Stock Exchange (the

Merchants Await Big Dollar Day, Cut Prices

The stage is set for Kingston's annual February Dollar Day Sale event. All that is required now to make the event one of the biggest semi-annual sales is the smiling approval of the weather man on Wednesday and Thursday, February 16 and 17, when half a hundred of Kingston's progressive business men will join in the big mid-winter Dollar Day sale.

Because of the uncertainty of weather at this season of the year
the Kingston Business Men's Association has planned for a two-day sale so that in the event of a bad day the public will not be disappointed. However, should the weather prove fine on Wednesday shoppers should not wait until the last day of the sale lest the weather man causes a sudden shift in his weather program.

For six weeks Kingston merchants have been preparing for the big semi-annual Dollar Day advertisements will show. In this evening's issue of The Freeman will be found a special Dollar Day supplement in which nearly half a hundred of the merchants participating in the sale are presenting their Dollar Day specials. A

Mrs. J. A. Pratt to Speak to P.-T.A. at Sessions on Friday

Mrs. J. Avery Pratt, first vice president of the New York State Congress of Parents and Teachers, will be the principal speaker at the all-day institute of the P.-T.
A. Council here Friday. The conference will be held at the munic-

During the week Mrs. Pratt will speak at four other meetings in the Central Hudson District, which includes the counties of Ulster, Dutchess, Putnam, Orange and Sullivan. Tomorrow night she will be the speaker at the dinner meeting of the Putnam County Council at the Putnam Valley Centralized School. Wednesday
she will speak at the all-day in-town, under the direction of the Middletown Council. Thursday

she will attend the banquet of the Newburgh Council at the Hotel Palatine. She will complete her stay in the Central Hudson District Saturday when she will be present at the all-day institute of the Poughkeepsie Council in the Morse School.

Accommodations will be provided for those attending the conference here and at Middletown and Poughkeepsie who wish to bring basket lunches. These conferences will include group discussions, as well as general meetings.
Mrs. Harry E. McCormick, district chairman, will also speak at the meetings throughout the district.
Mrs. Pratt's active interest in educational matters dates back more than a score of years, including service as a member of the Board of Education of the islands of the Manu group, in the South Seas, a post which she accepted at the request of the then governor, Commander Clark D.
Stevens, U. S. N. She spent a year and a half in the South Seas and still retains a vivid recollection of the hurricane and incessant rains described in Somerset Maugham's

'Country Cop' Gets Alleged Killer At Armonk, Sunday

Armonk, N. Y., Feb. 14 (AP).— Accused of the vengeance slaying of a man he claimed had fleeced him of $2,500, Joseph Horowitz, who was arrested by one of the same "country cops" who captured Morrie Vandenhush a year ago, was held today on a homicide charge.

The arrest yesterday climaxed the small-town police career of Patrolman William Orman, 27, who plans to resign February 28, to join the gang-smashers of the Los Angeles police force.

While city police and Federal agents were on the alert from coast to coast, Orman and two other officers arrested Vandenhush, then called "Public Rat No.
1," and two accomplices without firing a shot and within 22 minutes after they had looted a Ka-tonah, N. Y., bank of $17,500.

He arrested Horowitz even before he was certain a crime had been committed and obtained a statement from the suspect, a Bronx shirt presser, before the hacked and bludgeoned victim died.

Patrolman Orman said Horowitz admitted killing a man he knew only as Gaziano or "The Weasel" but claimed he attacked him in self-defense during an argument.

The slain man was identified tentatively as Morris Feltner, 32, (62 West 104th street) New York.
Transaction in 1931

In 1931, Orman quoted Horowitz as saying, Feltner and another man fleeced him of $2,500 in the purchase of diamonds for which faked gems were substituted.

Ever since then I've been looking for the weasel," Orman quoted Horowitz. "Saturday I met him in this restaurant at Allen and Irvington."

Horowitz stated, said Orman,
that he persuaded Feltner to buy a farm in settlement of their old score and with Bernard Benkler, 39, Horowitz's brother-in-law as driver, they rode out of New York.

Benkler was held in $25,000
bail as a material witness.
Early yesterday, George Petrie, night watchman on the estate of the late Henry Clay Frick, Pittsburgh steel master, drove here and reported to Orman that he had heard a man "scream terribly" on the estate grounds and had seen a car drive away.

Orman captured Horowitz and Benkler and, while he questioned his prisoners, two other officers searched the Frick estate and found Feltner dyed, with his throat cut and face slashed.

Funeral One of Largest

The funeral of William O'Reilly held this morning was one of the largest ever seen in Kingston and was marked by ceremonies befitting him as one of this city's leaders in the various phases of community activity.

Relatives and friends crowded his late home, 58 Pine Grove avenue, for the beginning of the auto procession at 9:30 o'clock to St. Mary's Church, where at 10 o'clock a solemn Mass of requiem was offered for the repose of his soul.

Monsignor John J. Stanley, pastor of St. Mary's Church, was the celebrant of the Mass, and the Rev. William H. Kennedy and the Rev. James P. Moore acted as deacon and sub-deacon.

Responses to the Mass were sung by the children's choir and William Raible, tenor, was the soloist.

The church was filled with relatives and friends and business acquaintances of Mr. O'Reilly, the large assemblage attesting to the high esteem in which he was held.

Seated within the chancel were the following clergymen: The

Oscar O. McIntyre Dies

New York, Feb. 14 (AP).—Oscar
O. McIntyre, newspaper columnist to whom millions of Americans looked for their impressions of New York city, died today in his Park avenue apartment.

One of the most famous newspapermen of the nation, he came to New York from a small Ohio town, and always boasted that he never lost the naive curiosity of the "home town boy." For a quarter of a century his daily column, "New York Day by Day," gained increasing fame, and in recent years was published in almost 400 newspapers.

McIntyre, who would have been 54 on Friday, died at 2 o'clock this morning. Cause of death was not known immediately, but his health had not been good for some time.

McIntyre's friendships ran through all classes and types of people—Broadway's great, the big city's unnoticed people, each alike claimed his attention.

He lived much alone in recent years, doing his work in his richly-furnished apartment, aided in great measure by his wife, the former Maybelle Hope Small,
of Gallipolis, Ohio.

gress to Instruct President to Call an International Arms Conference.

EQUAL NAVIES

New Yorker Declares Japanese
Navy Equal to U. S. Could Not Conquer America.

Washington, Feb. 14 (AP).—
Senator King (D-Utah) asked Congress today to instruct President Roosevelt to call an international arms conference.

Shortly before King proposed this in a resolution, Representative Fish (R-N. Y.) suggested before the House naval committee that a new disarmament conference should grant Japan naval parity with the United States.

Downtown, Secretary Hull, questioned about this government's attitude toward requests that the United States call a conference, remarked that many things are being published in different capitals about movements for naval disarmament, general disarmament and general peace.

He added to his press conference, however, that he would prefer to let his questioners form their own conclusions. The secretary said he had not conferred with anyone in either house on Congress on the subject of a conference.

Causes Deep Concern

King's resolution said that
"the increase in world armaments is causing deep concern among the people of all nations and is regarded by them as provocative of international conflict."

It declared also that "such increase imposes heavy burdens of taxation upon the people and every form of industry and interferes with trade and commerce among nations."

King proposed therefore that the President be "requested to invite the governments with which the United States has diplomatic relations" to a conference to be held in Washington "in the interest of world peace and the relief of all nations from the burdens of inordinate and unnecessary expenditures for armaments."

Sees No Results

Pittman expressed doubt that a conference at this time would produce results. He recalled what he termed the "failure" of the Washington naval conference of 1922
and of the more recent London meeting. He said there was less reason now than before those two parties to believe that success would follow such a meeting.

Fish told the house committee that Japan could not attack this country successfully even with a navy as large as the American fleet.

"Why can't we give Japan equality," he asked, "unless we intend to do what I think we are trying to do, and that is police and quarantine the world?"

Under the now defunct London naval treaty the naval strength of Great Britain, the United States and Japan was fixed on a 5-5-2 basis.

Fish testified at hearings on the proposed $800,000,000 naval expansion program. He said he believed the navy now "is larger than necessary for all purposes of national defense."

Before Fish testified, a 20-year-old theological student, opposing the expansion program, told the committee he would not fight to protect his mother and sisters from foreign invaders.

He was Frank Littell, a student

In this evening's issue of The Freeman will be found a special Dollar Day supplement in which nearly half a hundred of the merchants participating in the sale are presenting their Dollar Day specials. A careful study of the offerings will disclose the wide variety of merchandise which is being offered and the deep price cuts which have been effected to make the 1938 February Dollar Day a banner one. Not only late winter but advance spring merchandise will be included in the sale.

Prices which are being advertised will be in effect during both Wednesday and Thursday of this week but shoppers naturally are asked to "shop early" when the stocks and selections are at the peak. Extra stocks of merchandise have been procured for the sale but sharp mark downs may bring an unexpected rush of business so "shop early" is the better policy.

Practically every store in town and practically every type of business is being represented in the Dollar Day sale event, the sale is not being restricted to any particular section of town or to any particular type of store. Dollar Day banners will be found in stores which are participating in the event and on Wednesday and Thursday of this week it will be difficult to find a store which is not displaying these distinguishing banners. Look for them,

Mrs. J. A. Pratt to Speak to P.-T.A. at Sessions on Friday

Mrs. J. Avery Pratt, first vice president of the New York State Congress of Parents and Teachers, will be the principal speaker at the all-day Institute of the P.-T.A. Council here Friday. The conference will be held at the municipal auditorium, beginning at 10 a. m. and accommodations will be provided for those bringing basket lunches so that they will not have to leave the building. Friday evening Mrs. Pratt will speak at the meeting of the Milton Central School.

During the week Mrs. Pratt will speak at four other meetings in the Central Hudson District, which includes the counties of Ulster, Dutchess, Putnam, Orange and Sullivan. Tomorrow night she will be the speaker at the dinner meeting of the Putnam County Council at the Putnam Valley Centralized School. Wednesday she will speak at the all-day institute in Grace Church, Middletown, under the direction of the Middletown Council. Thursday she will attend the banquet of the Newburgh Council at the Hotel Palatine. She will complete her stay in the Central Hudson District Saturday when she will be present at the all-day institute of the Poughkeepsie Council in the Morse School.

Accommodations will be provided for those attending the conference here and at Middletown and Poughkeepsie who wish to bring basket lunches. These conferences will include group discussions, as well as general meetings. Mrs. Harry E. McCormick, district chairman, will also speak at the meetings throughout the district.

Mrs. Pratt's active interest in educational matters dates back more than a score of years, including service as a member of the Board of Education of the Islands of the Manx group, in the South Seas, a post which she accepted at the request of the then governor, Commander Clark D. Stevens, U. S. N. She spent a year and a half in the South Seas and still retains a vivid recollection of the hurricanes and incessant rains described in Somerset Maugham's "Rain" and pictured in the recent movie "Hurricane".

During her stay in the South Seas she lived on, or rather in, the crater of the extinct volcano in which the harbor of Pago Pago is now situated. The Maugham where the Samoan clipper landed and from which it took off on its recent fatal trip, is familiar territory to Mrs. Pratt, who has an unusual fund of information on educational and other matters gained at first hand.

'Country Cop' Gets Alleged Killer At Armonk, Sunday

Armonk, N. Y., Feb. 14 (AP).—Accused of the vengeance slaying of a man he claimed had flooded him of $2,500, Joseph Horowitz, who was arrested by one of the same "country cops" who captured Mordechai Vandenbush a year ago, was held today on a homicide charge.

The arrest yesterday climaxed the small-town police career of Patrolman William Orman, 27, who plans to resign February 28, to join the gang-masters of the Los Angeles police force.

While city police and Federal agents were on the alert from coast to coast, Orman and two other officers arrested Vandenbush, then called "Public Enemy No. 1," and two accomplices without firing a shot and within 22 minutes after they had looted a Ketchikan, N. Y., bank of $17,600.

He arrested Horowitz even before he was certain a crime had been committed and obtained a statement from the suspect, a Bronx shirt presser, before the backed and bloodied victim died.

Patrolman Orman said Horowitz admitted killing a man he knew only as "Gallois" or "The Wop" but claimed he attacked him in self-defense during an argument.

The slain man was identified tentatively as Morris Felner, 22, 162 West 164th street, New York.

Transaction in 1931

In 1931, Orman quoted Horowitz as saying, Felner and another man forced him of $2,500 in the purchase of diamonds for which failed gems were substituted.

Ever since then I've been looking for the wop," Orman quoted Horowitz. "Saturday I met him in this restaurant at Allen and Irvington."

Horowitz stated, said Orman, that he persuaded Felner to buy a farm in settlement of their old score and with Benjamin Benkler, 29, Horowitz's brother-in-law as driver, they rode out of New York. Benkler was held in $25,000 bail as a material witness.

Early yesterday, George Petrie, night watchman on the estate of Miss Helen Clay Frick, daughter of the late Henry Clay Frick, here and reported to Orman that he had heard a man "scream terribly" on the estate grounds and had seen a car drive away.

Orman captured Horowitz and Benkler and, while he questioned his prisoners, two other officers searched the Frick estate and found Felner dying, with his throat cut and face slashed.

Senator King of Utah Asks Congress to Instruct President to Call an International Arms Conference.

New Yorker Declares Japanese Navy Equal to U. S. Could Not Conquer America.

Washington, Feb. 14 (AP).—Senator King (D-Utah) asked Congress today to instruct President Roosevelt to call an international arms conference.

Shortly before King proposed this in a resolution, Representative Fish (R-N. Y.) suggested before the House naval committee that a new disarmament conference should grant Japan naval parity with the United States.

Downtown, Secretary Hull, questioned about this government's attitude toward Japan, requested that the United States call a conference, remarking that "man things are being published in different capitals about movements for naval disarmament, general disarmament and general peace."

He added to his press conference, however, that he would prefer to let his questioners form their own conclusions. The secretary said he had not conferred with anyone in either home or Congress on the subject of a conference.

Causes Deep Concern
King's resolution said that "the increase in world armaments is causing deep concern among the people of all nations and is regarded by them as provocative of international conflict."

It declared also that "such increase imposes heavy burdens of taxation upon the people and every form of industry and interrupts trade and commerce among nations."

King proposed therefore that the President be "requested to invite the governments with which the United States has diplomatic relations" to a conference to be held in Washington "in the interest of world peace and the reduction of inordinate and unnecessary expenditures for armaments."

Sees No Results
Fittman expressed doubt that a conference at this time would produce results. He recalled what he termed the "failure" of the Washington naval conference of 1922 and of the more recent London meeting. He said there was less reason now than before these two parleys to believe that success would follow such a meeting.

Fish told the house committee that Japan could not attack this country successfully even with a navy as large as the American fleet.

"Why can't we give Japan equality?" he asked, "under a treaty to do what I think we are trying to do, and that is, police and guarantee the world."

Under the new defense law, the United States, the United States and Japan was based on a 5-5-5 basis.

Fish testified at hearings on the proposed $500,000,000 naval expansion program. He said he believed the navy now "is larger than necessary for all purposes of national defense."

Before Fish testified, a 20-year-old theological student, opposing the expansion program, told the committee he would not fight to protect his mother and sisters from foreign invaders.

He was Frank Littell, a student (Continued on Page 18)

Great Sino Battle Rages

Shanghai, Feb. 14 (AP).—Japan's rising sun warriors, following the trail blazed by the Mongol hordes of Genghis Khan, 700 years ago, fought one of the world's greatest battles today in the conquest of Central China.

The same battlefields in Honan Province where the great Khan's horsemen struck terror into the heart of Asia reverberated with the din of modern conflict as the Japanese invaders drove desperately fighting Chinese troops southward toward the Lunglai railway.

The Japanese already have captured the lower stretches of the Yellow river and have reached the middle section of that great waterway, the division of North and South China.

Swift drives southward put the Mikado's armies astraddle the Pinghan and Taming highway. They seriously threaten Kaileng, present capital of Honan Province and ancient seat of the Sung dynasty eight centuries ago. The Mings reigned there from 1368 to 1644.

The Japanese advance guard was reported on the north bank of the Yellow river after having shattered resistance of 15,000 Chinese troops and forced them to withdraw across the wide waters.

Oscar O. McIntyre Dies

New York, Feb. 14 (AP).—Oscar O. McIntyre, newspaper columnist to whom millions of Americans looked for their impressions of New York city, died today in his Park avenue apartment.

One of the most famous newspapermen of the nation, he came to New York from a small Ohio town, and always boasted that he never lost the naive curiosity of the "home town boy." For a quarter of a century his daily column, "New York Day by Day," on Broadway was still far from gaining increasing fame, and in recent years was published in almost 400 newspapers.

McIntyre, who would have been 54 on Friday, died at 2 o'clock this morning. Cause of death was not known immediately, but his health had not been good for some time.

McIntyre's friendships ran through all classes and types of people—Broadway's great, the big city's unnoticed people, each alike claimed his attention.

He lived much alone in recent years, doing his work in his richly-furnished apartment, attended in great measure by his wife, the former Maybelle Hope Smith, of Gallipolis, Ohio.

Friday, which would have been McIntyre's birthday, also would have been his 50th wedding anniversary.

First Syndicated Column
The first man to write a syndicated New York Column, forerunner of the many present-day Broadway gossip writers, McIntyre began his newspaper career on the Gallipolis Journal in 1902. On Broadway was still far from his do-it pen. He left Gallipolis to become a feature writer on the East Liverpool, O. Tribune, then became managing editor of the Dayton, O. Herald, and later assistant managing editor of the Cincinnati Post.

The "big town" lure finally brought him to New York as associate editor of Hampton's Magazine in 1912. In a few months he had started the "big-city" jottings on the Gotham scene (Continued on Page 22)

Hitler Maintains Strict Secrecy on Message Next Sunday to Reich

Diplomatic Quarters in Europe Greatly Agitated Over What Nazi Dictator Will Say—Big Surprise Expected.

Some Circles Say Hitler Negotiates with British for Return of Lost Colonies.

By WADE WERNER
Berlin Feb. 11 (AP)—Jittery Europe is facing its third conference in Hitler week end.

The German Fuehrer, weighing in with a feverish fortnight of agitation, is expected to announce his message to the Reichstag next Sunday.

Speculation as to just what Hitler will say agitated diplomatic quarters, but secrecy was maintained as his watchword. Of great interest to the world was the fact that Hitler's talks Saturday with Kurt Schuschnigg, Austrian Chancellor at Berchtesgaden, were reported to be friendly.

One of these conditions, it was said, would be a clarification of Germany's relations with Austria, pending any sudden change in that sector.

Settlement Involved

Premier Benito Mussolini of Italy who was said to have urged the Schuschnigg-Hitler talks, was described as favoring a settlement by which Austria would get colonies and Germany would get British recognition of the conquest of Ethiopia.

Propaganda ministry officials were content to hazard a guess that perhaps Hitler would mention the talks with Schuschnigg in his speech to the Reichstag.

Various explanations of the situation by persons customarily well-informed but as well-informed as the other two main versions.

That Hitler is nervous about his army and is in the mood to seize opportunities for expansion with Austria—especially if they would facilitate negotiations with Britain on German demands for colonies.

But Hitler's army is stronger than ever since the shakeup which concentrated new power in his hands—and twice as dangerous—hence the willingness of Schuschnigg to climb the steep hill to Hitler's Berchtesgaden villa.

Regardless of who actually was afraid of whom in Europe and no matter what may be the actual state of military effectiveness of Hitler's army, most observers agreed that a week-end of persistent rumors about conditions within the army had weakened its effectiveness as an instrument of diplomacy.

Clearer Interpretation

The head of the official Austrian news agency, who accompanied Schuschnigg to Berchtesgaden, said main points discussed there were clearer interpretation of the Austro-German program of 1936, ending of Nazi propaganda and terrorism in Austria, and improvement of Austro-German economic relations.

The Austrian chancellor conferred yesterday with his cabinet on what appeared to have been the main point of the interview—fulfillment of the 1936 accord which would allow the Nazi party to develop as it might as an official Austrian party with German Nazis agreeing not to interfere.

Austria was believed to be willing to work with Germany and Italy provided the two powers renounced the independence of Austria as an authoritarian, German state.

Main Street Under Water

Ordinarily a small stream, the Pigeon river, fed by 16 days of torrential rain, got to be more than five miles wide and swept over the main street of Kingston. The water was so high that it was impossible to wade across. Many homes were caught in stores and had to wait rescue by boat. The storms have claimed 16 lives, flooded lawns along a 100-mile stretch and left scores homeless.

Business Growth Means Remodeled Store for S. Gold

Samuel Gold, owner of Gold's Reliable Shop on Wall street, announced today that his women's wear store, a familiar landmark on Wall street for 15 years, would undergo complete remodeling both in the interior and the exterior of his shop.

Mr. Gold stated that the step was necessary at this time due to increased business and the owner's desire to remodel his store into one of the most modern establishments of its kind in the Hudson valley.

Mr. Gold is one of Kingston's oldest business men, having been actively engaged in the women's apparel field for 25 years. He started with a small store on Main street a quarter century ago and was at that location for 10 years before moving to his present quarters on Wall street.

The new store will be modernized through numerous alterations and workmen will begin remodeling the present structure within a short time. Prior to that, remodeling the store will be completed in 10 days.

The purpose of remodeling the store for the purpose of remodeling the store will be completed in 10 days.

The front of the store will be changed and the entire interior will be redecorated and furnished. When completed the upper floor will carry a complete line of popular priced dresses, coats, suits and hosiery, while the entire first floor will carry merchandise of a higher quality.

Mr. Gold said this morning that his remodeling work would begin Wednesday morning and would continue for a 10 day period.

Great Sino Battle Rages

Shanghai, Feb. 14 (AP)—The Japanese advance guard was reported on the north bank of the Yellow river after having shattered resistance of 15,000 Chinese troops and forced them to withdraw across the wide waters.

A bitter struggle was in prospect, as the Japanese must cross the river under fire. Bridges were blown up in the withdrawal of Chinese.

The Japanese army, driving on Kaifeng, across the Yellow river, was one of five held forces pushing toward the Lunghai line, vital communication artery through the rich Central China agricultural region.

From the south, three Japanese armies were advancing from the Hwai river and reported new gains.

It was announced officially that Japanese victories on the Pingnan front cost the Chinese 2,000 men killed in the Hwai river sector, 1,500 Chinese were said to have been captured.

Merchants Await Big Dollar Day, Cut Prices

The large sale for Kingston's annual February Dollar Day sales event. All that is required now to make the event one of the biggest semi-annual sales is the approval of the weather.

On Wednesday and Thursday, February 16 and 17, when half a hundred of Kingston's progressive business men will join in the big mid-winter Dollar Day sale.

Because of the uncertainty of the weather at this season of the year the Kingston Business Men's Association has planned for a two-day sale so that in the event of a bad day the public will not be disappointed. However, should the weather prove fine on Wednesday, shoppers should not wait until the last day of the sale lest the weather man causes a sudden shift in his weather program.

For six weeks Kingston merchants have been preparing for the big semi-annual Dollar Day sale. The sale will be held in the downtown section of town or to any particular type of store. Dollar Day bazaar will be found in stores which are participating in the event and on Wednesday and Thursday of this week it will be difficult to find a store which is not displaying these distinguishing banners. Look for them, careful study of the offering will disclose the wide variety of merchandise which is being offered and the deep price cuts which have been effected to make the 1938 February Dollar Day sale a banner one. Not only late winter but also spring merchandise will be included in the sale.

Prices which are being advertised will be in effect during both Wednesday and Thursday of this week. Shoppers should be quick to shop early when the stocks and selections are at the peak. Extra stores of merchandise have been procured for the sale but sharp mark-down may bring an unexpected rush of buyers to shop early in the better police.

Practically every store in town and practically every type of business is taking part in the sale. The sale will be held in the downtown section of town or to any particular type of store. Oscar O. McIntyre Dies

New York, Feb. 14 (AP)—Oscar O. McIntyre, newspaper columnist to whom millions of Americans looked for their impressions of New York city, died today in his Lark avenue apartment.

One of the most famous newspapermen of the nation, he came to New York from a small Ohio town, and always boasted that he never lost the naive curiosity of the home town boy. For a quarter of a century his daily column, "New York Day by Day," gained increasing fame and in recent years was published in almost 400 newspapers.

Scout Anniversary Week Shows Wide Variety of Activity

The first week of the 35th anniversary celebration of the Boy Scouts in Ulster-Greene Council proved one of the most enthusiastic in the history of the council.

There were church services throughout the area, Courts of Honor, troop birthday parties, window displays, Scout demonstrations, etc.

The second and concluding week of the demonstration will find a Court of Honor of the Northern District in the Court House in Catskill this evening.

On Wednesday night, the Western District will have its Court of Honor at Mt. Tremper, and the Kingston District will have its session on Friday night, in the Kingston High School auditorium at 8 o'clock.

The number of awards that have been made in the various ranks exceed anything in the history of the organization and plans are being made now to take care of an increased growth throughout the territory.

Plans were announced today by the training committee of the council for the first of the series of training conferences for leaders and any others who are interested.

The schedule which has been arranged is as follows: Kingston—Southern—Roundout Valley Districts will meet Monday evening, February 21, in the City Auditorium, Kingston.

Northern—Saugerties Districts will meet Wednesday evening, February 23, in the New Saugerties Hotel, Catskill.

Mountain-Western Districts will meet in the Hunter School at Hunter on Thursday evening, February 24.

The subjects for discussion at these conferences are: Building Troop Programs, Yearly Meetings, Weekly Troop Records, Development of adequate outdoor programs, How to arrange adequate instruction in rank requirements.

MILTON

Milton, Feb. 14.—David Bell and Ralph McCord of Milton received honors at the Boy Scout Court of Honor held at Highland on Thursday. The ceremonies, at which Troop 30 received its charter and the boys their badges, were an impressive candlelight service.

The Young Women's Club of Milton was entertained by Mrs. Fred Bond, Friday evening at her home. The girls decided to drop the idea of a dancing class until next fall and are planning to give a play for the benefit of the library. No definite date has been set but they are planning to give it on Friday, March 11.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Dlorio have returned from an extended wedding trip. Mr. Dlorio is engaged in farming. Mrs. Dlorio is the former Miss Dorothy Tantillo, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Tantillo, of Highland.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

Business Still in Fog of Uncertainty

There was little if any break noticeable last week in the fog that has for some time past more or less enveloped business and industry. Until it lifts and traveling, business-wise, becomes safer, the probability is that few of the big industrial drivers will show any tendency to "step on the gas."

Although carloadings showed a gain, all classes of freight except grain and live stock were below the 1937 levels. There was practically no change in the steel output, which held around 31 per cent of capacity as against 30 per cent a year ago. Automobile production was estimated at somewhat above the previous week, but still far below last year's levels. Coal output was slightly up. Contracts for construction were ahead of the same week last year, but below last week's figures.

The prospects of negotiating wage reductions in certain lines of industry are not as bright as they were a few weeks ago and hopes that the building industry might be stimulated by such method are not encouraging.

As to help from Congress one commentator remarks: "Nearly six weeks of the regular session have now passed—to say nothing of the extra session that preceded it—without giving definite expression to the desire any number of individual members of Congress have evinced to extend private industry such assistance as political action could give. The right of way has been given to other measures, such as farm legislation, which cannot be expected to help soon to 'release the driving force of private capital,' whatever their intrinsic merits may be."

The Carter Coal Co., which secured a Supreme Court decision declaring the first Guiley Coal Act, that of 1935, unconstitutional, is now pressing a case testing the constitutionality of the second act, passed in 1937, under which the National Bituminous Coal Commission has acted in fixing prices on coal. The case now in the United States Circuit Court of Appeals in New York and will undoubtedly be carried to the high court. Meanwhile the U. S. Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia has suspended the minimum prices for 260 railroads, two mining companies and the city of Cleveland, pending final judicial review of the legality of the prices set.

Chairman Spahn of the ICC and a committee are said to be drafting a plan for rehabilitating the railroad industry, the main provision of which would be a "Transportation Board" with broad discretionary authority and administrative powers. The plan may be put forward at the time the ICC renders its coming rate decision, or it may be held up until later. It is understood that the plan has not yet been presented to the President.

According to Barron's index business for the week ended February 5 was at 60.5 per cent of normal, compared with 61.1 per cent the week before and 51.7 per cent a year ago.

Preliminary report of the New York Central Railroad shows net of $6,352,612, or 92 cents a share, for the year 1937, compared with $9,333,175, or 1.75 a share a year ago.

Oscar of Waldorf Sends Recipes For May Bud Festival

Oscar of the Waldorf, probably the most noted Maître d'hôtel in the world, certainly the most famous in this country, who maintains a country home near New Paltz, does "his bit" toward the success of the Apple Blossom Festival in May, according to an announcement from the Junior League today.

In answer to a letter from Roger H. Loughran, general chairman of the festival, Oscar has supplied the Junior League with several favorite recipes using apples. The league, which is sponsoring the open contest for beauty queen at the May festival at a dance February 26, is also holding a recipe contest for favorite apple dishes. Such recipes may be sent to Mrs. Robert K. Hancock, Richmond Park, Kingston.

Oscar's answer to Mr. Loughran's letter and his recipes follow:

February 11, 1938
Mr. Roger H. Loughran, chairman
Ulster County Apple Blossom Festival
Kingston, N. Y.

Dear Mr. Loughran:
I received your letter of February 9th, and note that the Junior League of Kingston are interested in having a few recipes for apple dishes, and I am pleased to send you two of my favorite apple recipes enclosed.

It gives me much pleasure to be able to cooperate in this small way, and I hope the Junior League Dance on the evening of February 26th will be a huge success.

Sincerely yours,
OSCAR

Apple and Almond Pudding
Peel and core some cooking apples and put in a saucepan with a little water and cook to a pulp. Put this at the bottom of a buttered mould and let cool. Put 5 ounces of blanched almonds into a mortar with an equal weight of crushed loaf sugar, pound well and mix in the yolks of seven eggs, the strained juice and grated rind of a lemon and a little flour to thicken it. When these are well mixed, add the whites of the seven eggs beaten to a froth—turn the whole into the mould over the apples, place in a moderate oven and bake for about half an hour, when the pudding should be a light brown. Remove when done from oven and turn on to a dish, serving with sweet sauce.

Apple Charlotte
Take a loaf of stale bread and after removing all the crusts with a sharp knife, cut up into slices of 1-3 inch and again into slices of fancy shapes such as hearts, triangles, squares, rounds, etc. Cut out a round 1 1/2 inch in diameter and lay in the center of the bottom of a round tin mould, then shape out several hearts large enough for the points to rest on the disc, while their rounded points touch the sides of the mould. Next cut some slices of the bread into rectangular strips and stand them upright around the sides of the mould. Dip each piece of bread in warmed butter before setting in the mould. Have ready some thick apple marmalade prepared thus: Peel, core and slice some apples; place in a saucepan with some sugar, the peel of a lemon cut thin and a bit of cinnamon tied together. Moisten with a little water. Cook until boiling and then let simmer until the apples fall. Remove and take out the lemon peel and cinnamon and stir briskly with a wooden spoon until the marmalade is of a stiff consistency. Pour this into the breadlined mould and cover the top with a slice of bread dipped in the warmed butter and cut to fit the mould. Put the Charlotte into a brick oven and bake until the bread is a golden brown. Turn out on to a dish and sprinkle with sugar over it, and then glaze with a very hot salamander, pouring apricot marmalade around the dish, or instead of the glazed sugar, cover the Charlotte over with apricot marmalade.

Apple Flout
Rub a sufficient quantity of stewed apples through a coarse sieve, or mash them thoroughly. Sweeten with sugar and flavor with nutmeg, and add a spoonful at a time to the well-beaten whites of eggs (four eggs) to each quart of apples used. Put in some cream and season with nutmeg at the bottom of the dish, placing the apples on top. Put in the oven for 20 minutes and serve either hot or cold.

London needs more policemen so badly the authorities have reduced the minimum height for admission by one inch. Hitherto Bobbies had to be 5 feet 9 inches tall.

The Ravine gardens of Palisades, N. Y., are located in a natural amphitheater covering about 10 acres. The gorge extends for five miles, fastened in tropical shrubbery and masses of many distinct varieties. Along the slopes of the ravine, which rise to a height of 120 feet, are thousands of palms interspersed with native trees. A spring-fed brook, with flower-decked lawns, winds along the floor of the gorge.

KINGSTON, N. Y., FEB. 11, 1938

NATIONAL DEBTS

Gov. George H. Earle of Pennsylvania, urging the federal government to start repaying the national business pump, makes some surprising statements. We can afford it, he says, and the national credit can stand it because $7,000,000,000 of the present federal indebtedness of $23-000,000,000 is "in loans that will come back, making the national debt actually $21,000,000,000."

Most of us don't believe Uncle
 Sam ever got back all that money.
 If it is reckoned as sound assets,
 it reduces the present debt one-tenth, or less, of the estimated national wealth. But there is today a widespread belief that much further increase of the debt will begin destroying the government's credit and thereby destroying also the value of our national assets.

When Gov. Earle proceeds to contrast our debt with the debts of other countries, he runs into some incredible figures. He is quoted as saying that the British national debt is $110,000,000,000, and the French debt $125,000-000,000. In each case that would be more than the whole country is worth. The governor is obviously confused in his figures. The British national debt has stood for several years near $8,000,000,000 pounds, or $40,000,000,000, and is probably a little higher now.
 That sum, however, means about as much per capita to the British people as $110,000,000,000 or more would be to us.

NAVAL PROTECTION

The nation as a whole is obviously willing to go along with the government in the present plan for increasing our naval strength, but there is naturally some questioning and some criticism. Many patriotic citizens are afraid of militarism or navalism, not because of its costs but because of the dangers they think it might get us into.

Perhaps the clearest statement in defense of the plan has been made by General Hugh Johnson, speaking not for the government but as a private citizen whose professional career and experience probably qualify him to speak on such matters about as well as anyone.

He points out a few simple facts like these: That for a country situated like ours, a strong navy is naturally the best defense; that this land is the richest in the world and most invites predatory attack if undetected;
 that our own safety demands a fleet strong and mobile enough to defend, if necessary, any part of the North American coast, including the Caribbean Sea, and to scare potential aggressors away from South America; that our army is so small as to constitute no menace to any foreign country, and will not be much increased; that such a set-up is obviously defensive, not offensive, because it would require a great navy and great army together to menace any foreign rival.

RADIO TEMPERAMENTS

A sports writer, after listening to the broadcast of the Schmeling-Poard fight in Hamburg, Germany, the other day, observed that the pugilistic event served as "something of a lukewarm preliminary to the airing of the international spelling bee that followed it." He found the spelling match much the more exciting of the two. The fight itself was tame according to our standards. The fighters were described as "acting in a manner friendly toward one another." Over here that would promptly bring boos and jeers from the spectators.

Then, the British announcer was a calm fellow, not at all like our sports announcers. He sounded to American listeners like a gentleman seated in an easy chair at his own fireside, not before a microphone at a prize-fight. Slipped ease, a favorite pipe, and ample leisure for friendliness were suggested by his tone and words. If all this puzzles and bewilders American listeners, think what Graham Mc-Namee or other sports announcers would do to British radio fans.

 They'd probably have heart failure.

INSOLENCE.

In the case of John M. Allison, a member of the American embassy at Nanking, the Japanese seem to have had a little language lesson. Possibly a moral lesson, too. Allison had his face soundly slapped by a Japanese sentry when, under the supposed protection of "diplomatic immunity,"
 such as is recognized by all civilized nations, he insisted on entering Japanese quarters to protest against the forcible seizure of women by soldiers. We venture to think almost any European authorities would have treated him respectfully. The sentry who slapped him explained that he did it because of the American's "insolence," and his superior officers took his word for it and said it was Allison's fault.

When the United States government stepped in and vigorously explained the situation, the Japanese authorities looked more closely into the matter and also into the English language. As a result, they retracted their statement, saying that the American diplomat had behaved not "insolently" but "boldly."

That is better. International troubles are caused as much by unpleasant words as by unpleasant behavior. Americans want their representatives to be bold, but not insolent, and hope the Japanese will take more pains to make the same distinction in their own conduct.

DEMENTIA PRAECOX
 When it is realized that practically two of every three cases of dementia praecox—schizophrenia—or persistent dream state as it is usually described have their beginning before the boy or girl has emerged into manhood or womanhood it certainly gives us all food for thought.

That an apparently average everyday normal boy and girl can develop into "day dreamers," which satisfy them with life, is hard to understand. Sometimes,
 however, as parents or friends think back a little, they will remember that the individual was just a little "odd," had peculiar notions about some things, seemed always satisfied in his or her mind that the way they did things in school or in the home was the right way even if it was different from the way it was usually done by others. Thus today we find parents, teachers, and physicians watching more closely for any of these signs in their children, pupils, or young patients.

Just how the youngster or sometimes the adult got started along this line of conduct can often be traced to certain circumstances of early life—even before the school age—whereby the youngster, by withdrawing into himself instead of mixing with others, could satisfy himself or be contented in his own mind. Instead of going out among others and being not the hero he pictures himself in his dream
 state, but just one of the crowd, and perhaps not even up to the average in mental or physical ability.

Dr. Benjamin Pollack, in the Psychiatric Quarterly, says that the main point is that to this patient his dream world is the real world, not the world others live in. In his own world (the dream world) success or gratification is easy to attain, and so he is satisfied, and he doesn't want this idea disturbed; he knows that in the outside or real world of others he just would not be gratified or successful.

It is not hard to understand then why parents, teachers and physicians try to get these boys and girls to mix with others, particularly in group games and study and so gradually leave their dream world to enter the real world or life.

EMPIRE FOR A LADY

SYNOPSIS: Savage Dyak tribes are on the wild loose at war with the Malays of Sumatrana Island. Christine Forrester, a beautiful young English girl, is behind the revolt, completing a plan of her dead father, James Forrester, and master of the gun-running. Linking up, is blamed by his client, Rajah Mantusan, and imprisoned. Although he escapes, Clyde unexpectedly refuses to sail from Balingong bay while Christine remains. (I am Paul Thorne.)

Chapter 24
Two Stubborn People

CHRISTINE looked at Clyde a long time. "I like that—in a way," she said. "We are two very stubborn people, you and I."
 "And you wish I would go away," Clyde said with a shadow of a grin. "Well, I wish I could.
 I don't see how things can go on much longer, or get much worse."
 Mr. Thorne has probably already explained to you what I expect from the Malays. It just adds on to what I already expected, from the Dyaks. Now we'll probably get them both. I don't know why they haven't struck already."

"I know why," Christine said levelly. "Didn't Mr. Thorne tell you anything about—about what my father has done here?"
 "He said something about—some Dyak gun clubs of some sort."

"Of course you don't believe any of it."
 My uncle stirred restively, and his eyes cast up and down the shoreline. "I didn't at first," he admitted. "It isn't an easy kind of story to believe. But I'm beginning to believe it now. Part of it, at least."

"Polite of you," Christine murmured.
 He shook his head. "Mantusan knows something that I don't. If he didn't know any more than I know, he would have come boiling down that river before now.
 Granted that he would rather wait by treachery where he can this is no time for it. His chances of dealing with me are so slim they're ridiculous, and he ought to know it. But apparently Mantusan has decided that the river can't be forced. Something has happened to that jungle. Your father's rifles may or may not be holding the river; but it begins to look to me as if Mantusan believes that they are."

Christine thought Christine Forrester looked a little then, for she said,
 "I'm flattered. It seems that I am not to be believed until I am corroborated by a Malay!"
 Clyde smiled a little at that, but he didn't answer it.

There was a long silence between them.
 "What has Mantusan offered?"
 Christine asked at last.
 "Well—in a sense it's a kind of extension of a deal I had with him before," Clyde faltered, as if he were trying to translate something pretty difficult out of some native tongue. "You see, my original deal with Mantusan called for a five year monopoly in the Siderong. It was a good proposition. It was good for us both. He went on to explain what sort of thing he had expected of it, in a general way."

"In effect, he wants to revive that deal; offering better terms if I will let up on him now, but still trying to save something for him-

"This Is Surrender!"

"YOU'RE forgetting something."
 "Some of the natives are able to believe that there is a split between these two white ships. Your Dyaks probably think that I'm working for you. Mantusan thinks you're working for me, and your father too. That's what got me into trouble in the first place."

"But if you already have an alliance with Mantusan, why does he suppose you would attack him?"

"He always knew I distrusted him. Probably he admired me for distrusting him. Certainly he knew best that I had good cause."
 "He thinks you tried to make sure of your monopolies by taking Balingong—with Dyaks?"

"Well, it's reasonable. Suppose
 I really had armed the Dyaks.
 Simply to hold them over Mantusan as a threat. White traders have always tried to keep their balance by holding certain natives hostile to certain others."

"The Dyaks would have got out of your hands," Christine said shortly.

"Exactly," Clyde said. "That is just what Mantusan believes happened."

"But—but—" Some of the assurance seemed to have been knocked out of Christine. "Why, of course," she said at last. "Of course that is just what he would think."

"So now he wants me to pull my Dyaks off him, and make a peace that will save something for himself. He's full of apologies and big offers. I'm to be military governor of the port. I'm to run things as I want to. If he gets his annuities, and the Sultan of Sa-ranba gets his, I can run the rest of the show."

 His eyes had been shuttling
 back and forth along the shore, restlessly watchful; and now as he looked at Christine Forrester again he was startled.
 "What's the matter?"
 She was staring at him with wide, intense eyes, and her words were breathless. "But—this is surrender!"
 "I can't use it."
 "If I'll concede that much, he'll concede more. Don't you see it? If you negotiate this properly you can virtually take over Balinggong."

"Couldn't hold it if I did."
 "But you could, I tell you, you could! You would have the tribes to hold over him—the same tribes that have him helpless now."

"All my imaginary tribes," Clyde said drily. "I haven't got a single Dyak—you know that. He just thinks I have."
 She started to speak, but stopped, and pressed her fingers against her eyes. When she talked to him about the Tanyalang riflemen she was against a blank wall of disbelief, just as he was against a blank wall of a different kind whenever he argued with her. I admired her now because she saw the futility of trying to tell him again that the Dyaks were as good as her own.

Instead, she said, "What did you tell Lundok?"
 "What could I tell him? Of course I gave him a chance to fight for time. I sent him back with a counter proposition—one that Mantusan could not possibly accept."
 "What was it?"

At A Loss

CLYDE grinned apologetically.
 "I told him I would seriously consider his proposition only if he would first make an unconditional surrender. That's ridiculous, of course. But maybe he'll try to send me a compromise; and that will keep them off us a few more hours."

Christine Forrester stared at him a long while. "Captain Clyde,"
 she said at last incredulously,
 "you've drifted into the greatest opportunity that has ever come to any man in these islands. No one has ever had such a chance—unless possibly the Rajah Brooke."

"Who—me?"
 "The turn of events has played squarely into your hands. Captain Clyde, you could make anything out of this—anything! You could be the next rajah of Balingong."

He stared at her a moment and then he began to eat his words. Suddenly Christine leaned forward again, and her words came every fast. "The Dyaks don't know my father is dead. They need never know. His Tanyalang will stand fast, and do what they are told.
 We can make them hold true—at least for a little while. Go ahead with your negotiations. Promise Mantusan his annuities, and the Sultan's annuities. Promise him indemnity for the loot he must leave behind. Save his face before his sultan—manage it so that he can take this thing home as a triumph. But—force him to terms that will give you full control! I tell you, you can have the rajah of Balingong."

Clyde moved wearily. Several times he started to speak. Very plainly he was looking for a way to evade. "No doubt your father could have worked it out," he said without belief. "This sort of thing is not for me. Many a better trader than I am has lost his ship and his crew and his neck by doing with a monkey-business like that. Mantusan is desperate, as you say, but he's as dangerous as a trapped tiger. I don't want any part of him."

"Captain Clyde," said Christine,
 "you're being offered something
 no scheming could have got you.
 You have a chance to get a genuine legal claim upon Balingong—and that was the one thing missing from my father's plans. If Mantusan can be forced to sign over the rajah of Balingong, Massin Ali of Saranba can be forced to confirm
 it. Sumatanga is recognized by both the British and the Dutch as independent under Massin Ali of Saranba. Once your rajah is confirmed by Saranba, nothing can ever take it away from you."

"I have to get back to my ship,"
 my uncle said uncomfortably.
 "We had a bad ballast shift, about a fortnight ago, and I have to see that—"

"Mr. Thorne," said Christine, "I am sure you are very efficient in matters of ballast. I am sorry this takes you away from us; but Captain Clyde and I have a great deal to say to each other."

I stood watching Clyde, while he wavered. It was a curious sight, for I knew of no one more unaccustomed to being put at a loss. I could not imagine that anyone could dominate him as this girl was trying to do.

Yet, in the end, she held him
 there; and it was I who went back to my ship.

OLD FAMILY TREATMENT FOR COLDS AND BODY BUILDING

Father John's Medicine Not Only Helps Break Up Colds But Builds Up the Body.

Was Named by the People—Its 83 Years of Success is Convincing Proof of Merit—

This medicine was originally prescribed for Rev. Father John O'Brien, of Lowell, Mass., in 1855, by his physician. He afterwards recommended it to his parishioners and friends. In this way it became popularly known as Father John's Medicine, and many thousands have since been benefited by this valuable preparation. No amount of advertising alone could possibly have built the reputation that Father John's Medicine has earned and maintained for over eighty years as a treatment for colds and a body-builder, unless it had proven value and merit.

DESIGNERS AND CONSULTANTS

What is Air Conditioning and Where is it Used?

Air Conditioning is a term used by ventilation and heating engineers covering the subject of the control of temperature and moisture content of air in a given space. Air Conditioning itself is only for use in Industrial Processing where a given temperature and moisture content must be maintained at all times. Air conditioning was never meant nor intended for homes, stores, etc.

What type of conditioning was meant for homes, stores, etc., and why is this type used? The type of conditioning for homes, stores, theatres, etc., is called Comfort Conditioning. This type is used because of its compensating features which safeguard your health and comfort the year round, if desired.

This is the first of a series of talks designed to promote a better understanding of the conditioning of air for safety and comfort. The second will appear in this paper next week. For reprints of this series and further information on the subject write or telephone me at the above address.

Floating Ice In The River Here

The ice fields in the Hudson river have been broken up by the rain and milder temperatures, and the river off Kingston Point is filled with heavy, floating ice. At the office of the Kingston and Rhinebeck ferry it was stated that no date had been set for the resumption of ferry service, owing to ice conditions in the river here. The Rondout creek is clear of ice, and has been for several days. The only ice in the creek is now and then a floating cake.

Los Angeles Quake

Los Angeles, Feb. 14 (AP)—A slight, short earthquake was felt in Los Angeles today about 3:25 a. m. (E. S. T.). Police received no reports of damage, but residents in a radius of ten miles from the downtown business district were awakened by the shock.

When Elephant Is In "Musth"

At certain seasons, domesticated elephants suffer from a disease called "musth," and then become fully as dangerous as the rogue elephant of the jungle. When an elephant is "in musth," a white spot appears on his temple between his eye and his ear where there is a little hole in his head. From this hole, fluid oozes out until the termination of the illness, which is sometimes a matter of 60 or 90 days. An elephant "in musth" suffers such intense pain that its mind is affected.

Gog and Magog

Gog is a hostile power that, according to Ezekiel 28, is to manifest itself in the world immediately after the end of things. Magog, who is joined with Gog in the passage from Revelations, is the name of Gog's origin in the passage from Ezekiel. There are two giant cities of Gog and Magog in Guildhall, London, the legends attached to which are of unknown date. The effigies date from 1708 and replace those destroyed by the "great fire." According to some tales, Gog and Magog were the survivors of a race of giants descended from the 33 wicked daughters of Diocletian. After their brethren had been slain by Brutus and his companions, Gog and Magog were brought to London and compelled, as the story goes, to officiate as porters at the gate of the royal palace. Effigies similar to the present ones existed in London as early as the time of Henry V.

TORONTO STORK DERBY WINNERS

Three Canadian mothers show their pleasure over a court ruling accepting their claims to shares of the $500,000 stork derby prize. Left to right, Mrs. Annie Smith, Mrs. Lucy Timlick and Mrs. Kathleen Nagle. A fourth mother whose claim was accepted, Mrs. Isabel MacLean, did not come to court. Unless two other disputed claims are admitted, each will receive about $125,000.

BIG MOMENTS IN THE LIVES OF FAMOUS FLIERS

MAL B. FREEBURG

MAL WAS THE FIRST MAN IN THE STATES WITH THE RIGHT TO WEAR AN AIR MAIL PILOTS CONGRESSIONAL MEDAL.

HE IS SENIOR PILOT FOR NORTHWEST AIR LINES ON CHICAGO DIVISION. HE NOW HAS MEDAL FOR EXTRAORDINARY ACHIEVEMENTS IN LINE OF DUTY. ON ONE OCCASION HE SAVED A TRAIN CARRYING BOBBY JONES, FROM PLUNGING THROUGH A BURNING BRIDGE AT NIGHT, BY WINNING HIS LIGHTS OVER THE ENGINEERS CAB.

MAL HAS OWNED FOUR PLANES. HAS FLOWN ALMOST EVERY TYPE. HE NOW PILOTS HIS FAVORITE, A NEW LOOKING SKY ZEPHYR, BETWEEN THE "TWIN CITIES" AND CHICAGO. HE'S FLOWN MOST OF HIS 9000 FLYING HOURS AT NIGHT, AND HIS IDEA OF A DANGEROUS JOB IS BEING A MEMBER OF A SUBMARINE CREW.

SUBMARINE CREWS OR FLIERS, BOTH NEED CLEAR MINDS AND HEALTH, WHICH MEANS GOOD FOOD, PLANTY OF MILK.

Only One Type of Tree Produces Real Camphor

Camphor is an odd substance. The several kinds of camphor known to science are hydrocarbons, compounds of hydrogen and carbon, and are relatives of our common turpentine. However, the camphors are a little different in the manner in which the atoms composing their molecular structures are put together, reveals an authority in the Boston Globe. Thus, while turpentine is useless for the purpose, camphor can be used with cotton, nitric acid and sulphuric acid to make celluloid, and, by another operation, modern high explosives—the kind used to supply U. S. energy to hurl shells out of the great cannon.

Oddly enough, four kinds of plants produce camphor. One kind, the mint, such as monarda and mentha, is very common in America. But, sadly enough, the camphor they produce is not the right kind to make explosives. The second kind of plants are also common; certain composites, such as chrysanthemum parthenicum and blue-mea. But, again, the composites' camphor is the wrong kind, too. The third is a rare tropical family, the dipterocarps. Their camphor is excellent—but it is so rare that the price it commands is so very high that it is used for but one purpose—embalming wealthy persons in the Orient.

The fourth kind of camphor is the camphor of commerce; the camphor produced by one tree, cinnamomum camphora. This tree has relatives in New England—the spice bush and the sassafras—but their camphor, again, is not commercially available or chemically useful.

Thus, in all the world, only one tree, cinnamomum camphora, produces "real" camphor. And this tree is native only to one place in the world, the Japanese island of Formosa. It has been transplanted to southern China and to the Malay states, but it thrives best in its own home, Formosa.

And it is there that nearly all the world's camphor is harvested.

Name Reginald Teutonic in Origin, Means Wise

The name Reginald, of Teutonic origin, means "of wise power." For centuries it has been a favorite name. St. Reginald of Picardy is patron against fever, states a writer in the Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Sir Reginald Bray (d. 1503), knighted for his bravery in battle, was one of the leading architects of his time, designing the interior decoration of St. George's chapel, Windsor.

Rt. Rev. Reginald Heber (1783-1826), English poet and bishop of Calcutta, wrote many of our favorite hymns, "From Greenland's Icy Mountains" being one.

Reginald DeKoven (1861-1920), so called although the first two of his given names were Henry Lewis, composed many songs and light operas, among the latter being "Robin Hood."

Lord Reginald Escher (d. 1930), friend of the rulers of England and governor of Windsor castle, had access to the papers of Queen Victoria. Among his books is "The Correspondence of Queen Victoria." In 1921 he sent his diary and a scaled package of papers concerning the war to the British museum with instructions not to open until 1931. It is expected that these papers will give future historians valuable information.

Colors of Planets

The smaller planets, Mercury, Venus and Mars, are believed to have a solid surface composed of rocks very similar to those of the earth. Mercury is stated by some observers to have no perceptible supply of water, but the two other planets have water and ice on parts of their surface. The larger planets, Jupiter, Saturn, Uranus and Neptune, are not solid but appear as balls of cloud, which may have solid or liquid nuclei. The ruddy color of Mars to the observer is due to the red surface of much of that planet, but there are also dark markings which show a seasonal variation in color. The planet Pluto also has an apparent redness, suggesting a thin atmosphere and a surface of low reflecting power. Venus has a silvery brilliance, while Mercury is more inclined to redness; Saturn is yellowish, Uranus pale green and Jupiter shows a variety of colors, with reddish ones conspicuous.

Elberta is still the outstanding commercial peach in ten of eleven northeastern states that grow peaches in any quantity, with Golden Jubilee second, and J. M. Hale third.

NO HARD FEELINGS marred gay party given by New York's plump party-giver, Elsa Maxwell, on skating rink of Rockefeller center with Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Ives (above) cutting quite a figure. Among 150 guests were Beatrice Lillie, who is Lady Peel, and Sonja Henie, skating champion.

HURLEY

Hurley, Feb. 14—The monthly meeting of the Ladies' Missionary Society will be held on Wednesday at 2 p. m. at the John Ostrander residence.

On Thursday the ladies will hold an all-day sewing bee in the church basement. A pot luck luncheon will be served at noon.

The regular Thursday evening prayer service will be held, the topic being "Marks of a True Religion."

The Forum will present on February 23 the popular comedy, "Storm Center." Those taking part will be: Dorothy Rowse, Andrew Decker, Mabel Rowse, Violet Chilton, Donald Kent, Myrtle Brown, Bertha Ross.

The Berean class will hold a Valentine party at the Brink home this evening for husbands and friends of the members.

Evening of Games

Mettacahonts, Feb. 14—An evening of games will be held at the Mettacahonts hall on Tuesday evening, February 22, at 8 o'clock for the benefit of buying library books for the day school. The public is invited and each lady of the district is asked to bring a cake.

HOW ARE YOUR KIDNEYS?

A diuretic stimulant such as Dr. Pierce's A- nure is often indicated, and usually it is sufficient to relieve minor kidney ir- regularities. Mrs. Emma St. Louis, 15 William St., Chicago, Ill., writes: "I was greatly annoyed because of too frequent passage of the kidney se- cretions, which were often burned in passage. After using Dr. Pierce's A-nure Tablets I experienced no such dis- comfort." Buy of your druggist today.

APPEALS FOR GOP LEADERSHIP

Gov. George D. Aiken of Vermont is shown in New York as he addressed the Lincoln Day dinner of the National Republican Club and a nation-wide radio audience. Appealing for Republican leadership, he said, "the greatest praise I can give to Lincoln on this, his anniversary, is to say that he would be ashamed of his party's leadership today."

At The Theatres

Broadway: "Happy Landings." Sonja Henie and her ice ballet perform for your pleasure at the Broadway in this sparkling story of a girl who rises to fame and the big money because of her ability to skate better than any other woman in the world. The show follows the same pattern of Miss Henie's other motion picture successes but it is also an improvement because of the star's rising ability as an actress. The production is mostly spectacle with a good share of humor and romance thrown in for good measure. Others in the plant cast include Don Ameche, Jean Hersholt and Leah Ray. A 20th Century-Fox presentation.

Kingston: "Every Day's a Holiday." A subdued Mae West comes back to the screen in this tale of early American politics when ward bosses were in power and when a few men controlled the political destiny of a nation. The show contains some of the famous Westland dialogue and moves along at a merry clip. Featured in the supporting cast are Edmund Lowe, Charles Butterworth and Charles Wininger. A 20th Century-Fox presentation.

Orpheum: "Men in Exile" and "Wild Money." Double features continue at the Orpheum with June Travis and Dick Purcell costarring in the "Men in Exile" melodrama of thwarted lives and with Edward Everett Horton and the star of the second attraction, a laugh filled comedy selection that concerns the fate of a band of musical thieves.

Kingston: "Love on Toast" and "That's My Story." Two young blades go in for considerable romancing in the first film at the uptown theatre with historic humor and excitement thrown in for added measure. The cast features John Payne and Stella Adler. "That's My Story" completes the double feature program and leading the cast are Herbert Mundin and Claudia Morgan.

Church League Ball Is the Tops
—Real Battle for Lewis

By Joe Kelly

Al Weierich, of the Knights of Columbus, is doing a great job as publicity man of the Inter-Fraternal games tournament. He's a postal employee by profession. Always furnished the sports department with full statistics of the loop, neatly typed. He knows how to keep on the side of the sports. In addition, he would cheer, Al, hope you're up as the third highest ranked for the job again next year in America in handicaps. President Chet Baltz shooting, ranging from 16 to 25 as this season's Church League basketball has been the best in the history of the circuit. The 1937 performance at the Iowa fight the second half finishes at 10:30 last June by winning the Class A championship, the Danie title and trophy donated by the St. Mary's and the Com. won the National Junior title at St. Mary's. St. Mary's City, the annual blue-ribbon classic of cage has been doing right well. Should go even better next year. One of the largest turn-outs ever seen at Knickerbocker's. The crowd of 1,000 at the all-around match Sunday. The glossy roll with $800 out of 900 in the runways proved a little too slick for the boys of Harry Smith to roll one of those 300s. Baby Tompkins, 300 pound scorcher, made quite a hit. The change in the main bout at the auditorium tonight is an improvement. Ralph de Castro is the man Sam Ribber wanted for Lewis in the first place. But he gave away for the Viscio thing on advice of Benny Becker, who wanted to bring a whole team with de Castro. But Ralph will be here tonight. He and Bradley Lewis should make a home of it. Each holds a decision over the other.

Commission Puts Title Meeting Out

New York, Feb. 14 (AP)—New York state's boxing commission has chosen another "million-dollar" gate right out of town. If there previously had remained some slight doubt that the anticipated championship meeting between Joe Louis and Max Schmeling this coming June could be conducted at Chicago, it has been removed by the commission's masterful handling of the big Tony Galento mystery of the past week.

The commission practically reversed promoter Mike Jacobs of the necessity of making a decision on the championship site when it asked a suspension on Joe "Muscle" Jacobs, the manager of Galento—and likewise the manager of Schmeling. It was a great break for Chicago, which estimates the value of the scrap at around $5,000,000 in fresh money.

Church Slate Finishes Tonight

The second half of the Church Basketball League concludes its schedule tonight on the Y. M. C. A. court with three games, as follows: 7:30, Clinton Aces vs. Comforth. 8:15, St. Mary's vs. Redeemer. 8:45, Presbyterians vs. Port Brown. The Comforth quintet has clinched the second half and has qualified to meet St. Mary's first half winners for the league championship. The playoff series will start next Monday night.

WINNERS IN WOMEN'S GOLF AT MIAMI BEACH

Palm Beach, Fla., Feb. 14 (AP)—Marian McDougall of Portland, Ore., ousted Laddie Irwin of Montclair, N. J., from the Everglades Club Women's golf tournament by 5 and 3 yesterday in the first round of match play.

Dorothy Traugott of San Francisco eliminated Audrey Phipps of Westbury, N. Y., 4 and 3, and Sally Guth of Webster Groves, Mo., over Mrs. Joseph Lawlor of New Rochelle, N. Y., 4 and 3.

People who decide that "it's foolish to save money in these times" will soon be in debt to the foolish ones.

Victors Sunday On Placid Run

Lake Placid, N. Y., Feb. 14 (AP)—A pair of steel-nerved drivers from Adirondack mountain-studded Keene Valley split between them today the National A. A. U.'s two top bobbed championships.

Machinist Ivan Brown and Gas Station Operator Aubrey (Eucly) Wells, captured the two-man and four-man titles respectively in a week-end of sliding marred by serious injuries to three riders.

Wells drove the four, one-mile heats in four minutes, 26.64 seconds to beat the old mark of 4:39.39 established in 1936 by Miss Katherine Dewey of Lake Placid.

He also set a new course record of 1:12.97 for the two-man sleds in one of his heats Saturday and then went on to win the title in 4:52.63, approximately 15 seconds faster than the old four-beat mark.

Champion Dogs In N. Y. Show

New York, Feb. 14 (AP)—An American-bred dog, Daro of Maridor, an English setter puppy, will reign for a year as the nation's canine king, the first home-grown animal to win the Westminster Kennel Club's "best-in-show" award since 1925.

The orange and white puppy, which never appeared in a show ring until Friday, was chosen Saturday night at the closing session of the Westminster Kennel Club's three-day show.

Daro of Maridor from Dwight W. Ellis' Maridor kennels of East Long Meadow, Mass., also took the James Mortimer Memorial trophy as the best American-bred dog in the final event of the three-day show.

Champion Wins

Tuxedo Park, N. Y., Feb. 14 (AP)—Robert Grant III of New York, national and Canadian amateur racquet champion, defeated Clarence C. Pell, Jr., of Westbury, Long Island, yesterday 15-9, 15-4, 15-5 in the final round of the gold racquet tournament.

KING OF WESTMINSTER SHOW

Closed Division
Fullers vs. Forsts, 7:30.
J. Y. A. vs. Central Hudson, 8:20.
Knights of Columbus vs. Hercules, 9:30.

The last two games on the bill should be stand-out contests, Central Hudson being anxious to come out in front after losing to Forsts last week. The Knights have shown great improvement in taking over the Centrals and J. Y. A. and count on tripping the Hercules.

Concerning the first contest, it's hard to tell just what will happen, the Forst packers having come out of their slump in triumphing the Central Hudson, and Fullers showing a bit of down-grade tendency lately.

As in the past several weeks, the games should furnish the fans with plenty of action.

Chicago Skater Is World Champ

Saranac Lake, N. Y., Feb. 14 (AP)—The speed skating world hailed today the brilliant stand of slender Vic Ronchetti of Chicago, winner of the North American Amateur skating championship in the three-day meet concluded yesterday.

Miss Janet Milne of Saranac Lake, winner of the women's senior crown, also drew praise.

Eddie Schroeder, the defending men's champion, with 70 points, finished in the runner-up spot, far behind Ronchetti's total of 150.

Miss Milne was followed by Edna Hanley of Staten Island, N. Y., with 80; Eleanor Thiel Dyer of Chicago, 70; and Helen Bahli, Elmhurst, L. I., 50.

Other champions included: Tommy Stanton of Newburgh, N. Y., in the class for boys under 12.

BEST AFGHAN AT DOG SHOW

Amanullah of Kandahar, Afghan hound shown with handler Alex Scott, was adjudged the best of breed at the Westminster Kennel Club show in New York. The dog was entered by Miss Amelia White, Santa Fe, N. M.

SPEED SKATING'S KING AND QUEEN

Saugerties Shooter Wins First Trap League Contest

Henry York of the Saugerties Rod and Gun Club topped first place in the initial 16-yard shoot of the Ulster County Trapshooting League, held Sunday afternoon at the Saugerties range. York, broke 24 and 21 in the 50-target contest, which, with an added handicap of five, tallied a perfect 50. He was followed closely by Frank Chaffee of the Ulster County Gun Club, who shot 21 and 22 plus an added handicap of six for a total of 49. H. Freer with 48 took the third place award. Jack Lowthar, Will Lang and R. Wagner tied for fourth place with 45.

The unfavorable weather of Sunday decreased the expected attendance somewhat. Because of the fact that but 19 shooters participated there were four awards in a single class.

The second shoot of the league will be held Sunday, February 20, at the 16-yard range of the New Paliz Rod and Gun Club. Shooting commence at 1 p. m.

Sunday's scores:

	Ser.	Hdk.	Tot.

Rome Middleweight to Replace Viscio in the Main Go at Auditorium

THE "RUBBER"

Each Has Decision Over Other, Assuring Hard Fight—Viscio Has Grip—Frankie Emerson On with Bernard Moore.

Through a quirk of fate, boxing fans will see one of the prize matches of the winter boxing season, tonight, at the municipal auditorium.

Tony Viscio was kayaked by the grip Sunday at his Schenectady home, and Rome's star middleweight, Ralph de Castro, was procured to sub for him against Bradley Lewis. International champion in the feature scrap is tonight.

De Castro holds a decision over Lewis, so the new match should mean extra drawing power at the box office and a house full of customers who have been waiting to see the New Yorker slug it out with a man of his own caliber.

Viscio's 22 knockouts, and his record of being undefeated by a stoppage, won him the chance to replace Viscio, then along came the grip to eliminate him.

Despite Viscio's sterling record, however, deCastro really is the chosen man of the night. He is the chosen man of the night, and he is the chosen man of the night.

Riber gave Viscio the chance to advice of Ben M. Becker of the Adirondack A. A. U., but had to go back to his original choice of account of Tony's illness.

"Too bad Viscio has the grip," said Riber, "but I know the fans will go bigger for the deCastro match and there probably will be more business."

De Castro has defeated all of the upstate middleweights, 6-0. Coremo, who boxed Lewis here last week; Chief Costanza, Mechanicville terror, and Red Van Alstyne, a boy Ben Becker expects will be the best 160 pounder ever turned out in the Adirondack A. A. U.

A year ago deCastro went to Cuba with Becker on the U. S. team and boxed as a welterweight, but weighed the 145 pound class since, and now balances the scales at 150. He's 38 years old and stands a good chance of going places in the ring sport.

"Rubber" Battle
So as not to be misleading, it might be said that deCastro and Lewis are on even terms. Each holds a decision over the other, and tonight's match will be the "rubber." This should mean a hectic duel.

In place of Pete Capretti, who announced Saturday that a side-lining would keep him out of boxing Bobby Means, Frankie Emerson will be on the card, trading leather with Bernard Moore. George Gainford's middleweight prospect.

Emerson fought a hectic battle with Eddie Steele last week, winning on a technical knockout, the loss to Frankie Baumgartner in Hudson. He's anxious to get at other win under his belt before going at it again with Steele and hopes to score heavily tonight.

Buddy Emerson will trade leather with Charley Forelli in a five rounder that is awaited eagerly by the fans to see if the Alton Buzzsaw really can push over the St. Remyle as easily as he predicts.

Other matches:
Red Van Alstyne, Ravenna, 9.
Warren Jones, New York.
Sammy Jackson, Middletown.
vs. Richard Greiner, New York.
Billy Pelez, Albany, vs. Joe De Meo, Schenectady.

Charley Ragins, Saugerties, vs. Jess Caprotti, Kingston.
Starting time is 9 o'clock.

Emergency Gasoline LeviesMISS DOROTHY STEWART of Syracuse, one of the few women service station operators in the country, appeared at a hearing before the Senate and Assembly committees on taxation to urge repeal of the two 1c. emergency taxes on gasoline, which are collected in addition to the regular 2c. State tax and the 1c. Federal tax. Miss Stewart charged that direct and indirect taxes on gasoline in New York State are equivalent to 46 per cent of the retail price. She and other retail oil dealers declared the emergency taxes impose a hardship on their customers and are restricting automobile use in the State.ICE PACK SETTING RECORD FOR SPEED*Scientists Measure 25-Foot
Daily Advance.Fairbanks, Alaska. — If Alaska's Black Rapids glacier is moving at the rate the frontal portion is reported to be advancing, the speed is shattering all known scientific records. E. N. Patty, former head of Alaska college's school of mines, said here on return from the area.Patty said that before the Black Rapids glacier began its rapid advance the record was held by the Muir glacier, which moved at the rate of seven feet a day. This measurement was made by scientists, who marked its progress by using a row of stakes.Otto William Geist of the University of Alaska museum department also recently returned from the glacial site where he conducted investigations to determine the distance the glacier has moved in the last few months. The rate of its progress at present and other data relating to the sudden and extraordinary glacial advance.On Scene Ten Days.After spending ten days on the glacial field, Geist and his party found that the speed of its advance averaged 25 feet a day or a total movement of 250 feet during the length of their observations."Assuming the advance began last November 1, and that the glacier, then receding, was at the minimum distance of three miles fromthe point where it originally started, and its present position, it must have traveled more than 90 feet a day," Geist said."Of course, the average speed could easily have been several times this indicated minimum. The present movement of 25 feet a day would only account for 4,000 feet of advance during the time indicated.
It is evident that the extreme maximum speed attained may have been easily many times that of the minimum average requirement.Quakes Are a Factor."It is quite possible that earthquakes frequently registered on the university seismograph may have vastly accelerated movement of the ice pack," Geist said.He also pointed out that a series of enormous avalanches from the steep high mountains surrounding the glacial valley during recent years has had a great deal to do with the advance rate of the glacier.Patty explained the rapid rate of advance in saying that the pressure of snow and ice accumulating at higher elevations increase the speed
at which it moves.Youth Hostels Now Span State of PennsylvaniaPhiladelphia.—Modeled after the Youth Hostels of Europe, there is a series of ten hostels ranging from Philadelphia west to the Manada gap and the Appalachian trail for the enjoyment of citizens who wish to become "autumn vagabonds."The Horse Shoe Trail Club, Inc., founder of the hostels, has established accommodations for hikers, horsemen and cyclists who roam over the Pennsylvania countryside.The hostel system is similar to that already in use in New England.
Rates for sleeping quarters are as low as 25 cents a night.St. John Catchpool, director of the English hostel movement, pointed out on a visit to America recently that if the young people of the world could be brought together in common enjoyment of nature, everyone would benefit.Pupils in High School Object to Diet of PieShelton, Conn.—The Shelton high school pupils admitted they liked pie, but they wanted a change.Following complaints of pupils to Harry E. Fowler, superintendent of schools, that "nothing but pie" was for sale at the school cafeteria, an investigation was started."It's true," Fowler told the board of education. "Nothing but pie."Fowler explained that Mrs. Mary Wright, who is in charge of the lunches, explained to him that pupils would not buy sandwiches
when she had them on hand, butpreferred pie.
The pupils, in turn, explained to him, Superintendent Fowler, explained, that the sandwiches "were no good."Train Took Its Time, Got There at LastFort Worth, Texas.—The story of a freight train that took in years to make a run between Beaumont and Galveston, Texas, was recalled by S. R. Biering of Galveston attending a southwest railway claim conference in Fort Worth.The train started on its run during the 1900 storm disaster at Galveston. The storm broke a few minutes after the train left Beaumont, washed away the tracks and devastated the countryside.Railroad men not only faced a task of building a new set of tracks, they had to buy a new right-of-way. Eighteen years after leaving on its short run, the train arrived at Galveston.DOLLAR DAY Specials

Envelopes this year even for the most elaborate Valentines are uniformly white and unlined. The off-white shades of ivory or deep cream and now and then a solid color envelope to match the color of the card within are occasionally slight variations from the rule of white but it is the general tone of the February 14 message that the white envelopes are in line with the traditional anonymity of the Valentine message.

What Legislature Is Doing Today

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 14 (AP).—Today in New York's legislature: Both Senate and Assembly meet at 8:20 p. m.

Assembly to vote on proposals for continuing another year the temporary state flood control commission and providing for payment of costs in relocating and reconstruction of property in flood control projects. Also a bill which would permit cities and counties to set up their own work relief projects.

Senate to act on several minor bills.

Governor Lehman's proposal for modification of the capital gains and loss tax scheduled for introduction in both Houses.

What Congress Is Doing Today

By The Associated Press.

Farin Bill—Senate votes on final passage (3:30 p. m., EST.).

Equal Rights—Senate committee considers amendment guaranteeing equal rights for women (2:0 a. m.).

Government Reorganization—Special Senate committee reports modified bill.

Banking—House considers minor bills proposed by banking committee.

Naval—House committee hears opponents to naval building program (10 a. m.).

FRUIT GROWERS MAY SELL PROPERTY NOW

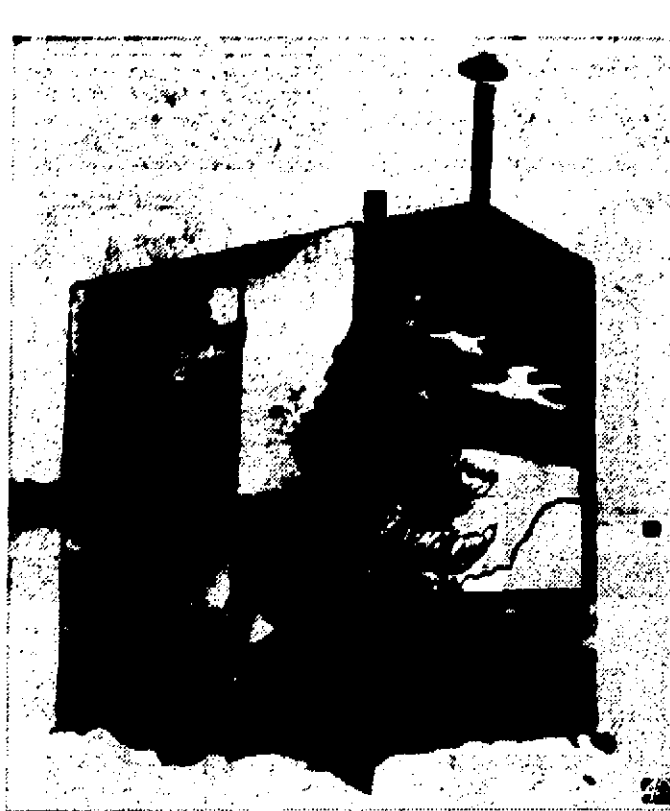

An application by the Empire Co-operative Fruit Growers' Association, Inc., for leave to sell real estate has been granted by Justice Francis Bergan. Under the petition the president and secretary of the corporation is authorized to sell the packing house and premises owned by the corporation at Ulster Park to Leslie Herring. The sale is authorized under terms agreed upon by the stockholders at a special meeting held October 29, 1937. An order of the court entered December 9, 1937, is rescinded and the new order for sale becomes effective.

The corporation was formed at Ulster Park for the purpose of co-operative fruit packing and sale. The present directors are Chester DuMont, president; Leslie Herring, vice president; Henry M. Cameron, secretary; Harold V. Story, Holt N. Winfield and Frank Chaffee of Ulster Park and Mary B. Elmendorf of Port Ewen. Land acquired on June 21, 1931, along the West Shore tracks at Ulster Park have been used for the packing house and storage premises. Under the order of the court the property is authorized transferred to Leslie Herring of Ulster Park on his assuming notes to the amount of $2,625 which are due the Rondout National Bank and which were made by the seven directors of the corporation to finance the corporation. The value of the real property stated in the petition of sale is given as $3,200.

Fabrics can be fireproofed and made safer for clothing and house-furnishings by a simple and inexpensive home process of dipping them in a colorless liquid, a solution of seven ounces of borax and three ounces of boric acid in two quarts of hot water. This treatment, says Dr. Martin Leatherman, of the Bureau of Chemistry and Soils, United States Department of Agriculture, will not protect fabrics from injury by flame or intense heat, but it will prevent the fabric from bursting into flame, and spreading fires that endanger life or cause the destruction of homes. The borax-boric acid solution may be applied by dipping fabrics until they are thoroughly moistened, then wringing out the excess and allowing them to dry.

24 B'way DOWNTOWN Open Evenings

Lights of New York

By L. L. STEVENSON

Odd yarns occasionally turn up in the lost and found departments of the city's large hotels. For instance there was the package with a rubber band wrapped around it which a Waldorf-Astoria houseman found while disposing of a pile of rubbish. Opening it, he discovered a pearl necklace and several pieces of novelty jewelry. He turned in his find and it was promptly restored to its owner, a Junior League who had been a guest at the hotel. While there, she found herself with a very important engagement and without her favorite evening wrap. A wire to her mother brought the wrap in sufficient time. The mother failed to report, however, that she had enclosed the pearls and jewelry in the box and in the daughter's haste, they escaped her eye. The box was thrown out and eventually reached the scrap heap where the houseman found it.

In another case, while Waldorf employees were sorting soiled linen before it was sent out for laundering, they came on a beautiful platinum wrist watch, set with diamonds. The watch, valued at $1,200, was, of course, returned to its owner. How it happened to be tossed into a basket along with soiled linen was not explained.

Seemingly a stop for a traffic light change on the crowded streets of New York would carry with it no danger of robbery. Recent instances have shown that this is not the case. Over in Brooklyn when a motor car stopped because of a red light, bandits appeared and took the car along with a $7,500 pay roll. Evidently they had kept watch until they were able to time the movements of the car so exactly that they could get possession of it and make a getaway. Most of the other robberies have been minor, so minor that many have not been reported. In the main they were merely purse-snatchings.

In some sections of the city, youngsters climb onto the back of a car when it stops for a light, and at the next stop run around and grab a purse or any valuables lying on the seat beside the driver. They vanish before an alarm can be given. Their victims are almost invariably women. So now many women drive with locked doors and windows shut. Closed windows are rather unhandy for signalling. But they afford protection.

Weather always being more or less under discussion, at this point I'll introduce that topic. At the opening of a new mid-town restaurant, William Keigley, Hollywood director, who was on his way to Florida for a vacation, chided friends about the New York climate. During the conversation, a telegram was delivered to him. It read: "Please give permission to shoot bathing scenes in your swimming pool. It's the only heated one in Hollywood and it's freezing out here."

Noticing a crowd in front of a ritzy restaurant, I elbowed my way forward filled with the hope that I might see a couple of bluebloods exchanging socks, something which happens on occasions in this town. But when I finally, after no end of trouble, reached the front rank all I saw was a newspaper photographer making shots of a couple of grinning newbies.

Walking away hurriedly, my mind went back to a cafe of the Hotel

du la Place in the little town of Montigny-sur-Aube in France years ago. Villagers were engaged in a heated war of words and so loud were voices and so violent the gestures it looked like bloodshed at any moment. Suddenly the clamor died down and everybody had a look. Then I learned that they had merely been arguing over the cost of a railroad ticket to Dijon.

Malaria Spreading North by Airplane and Trailer

Milwaukee.—Malaria is spreading throughout sections of the United States where it was virtually unknown ten years ago, it was discovered in a survey conducted by Dr. Marcos Fernan-Nunex, professor of pathology and bacteriology at Marquette university.

The number of malaria cases under treatment in the North is at least five times as great as it was a decade ago, Dr. Fernan-Nunex reported. He attributes spread of the disease to four factors:

The increase in the number of persons from the North who pass their winters in the South.

The fact for trailer travel.

Popularity of airplane travel.

Two-Thirds of Blindness Is Due to Stubbornness

New Orleans, La.—Stubbornness causes two-thirds of all blindness, believes Dr. Charles A. Bahn, president of the New Orleans Society for Prevention of Blindness.

"People just won't be helped," he said.

Four reasons directly responsible for blindness, he said, are: Allowing dirty objects to touch the eyes, abuse, taking unnecessary risks with the eyes and failing to live intelligently.

Famous Anthems Result of Some Stirring Event

Stirring events have sometimes inspired a spontaneous anthem. "The Star-spangled Banner," which is generally regarded as the premier anthem of the United States, although it shares duties with "Hail Columbia" and "My Country, 'tis of Thee," was composed to the thunder of British guns, writes a correspondent in Pearson's London Weekly.

In 1814, during the British-American war, a young Baltimore lawyer, Francis Scott Key, undertook to secure the release of a friend held aboard a British warship and went aboard with a letter from the President. The warship's commander acceded to his request, but declined to let him leave at once because he planned to bombard the American harbor forts next morning.

Key remained on board and was an unwilling witness of the reduction of the fortress. When, after hours of bombardment, the American flag continued flying, Key was moved to write the inspiring words of "The Star-spangled Banner." For the time he took the music of an independence marching song which had been very popular during the previous war with Britain. But the music went back even farther than that.

When you stand for "The Star-spangled Banner," you are listening to the music of the Anacreon club, a sporting body that met regularly at a tavern in the Strand, London.

The tune was taken over to America by colonists, who in the end believed it was their own.

Greater London spreads over 693 miles.

FLASHES OF LIFE SKETCHED IN BRIEF

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Asleep in the Deep
Pittsburgh—Dead tired and sleepy, Clarence Allen walked into the nearest open building to take a nap.
Coroner's deputies, attracted by an odd noise, found him snoring lustily in the crematory of the morgue.

Jail Break

Toronto (Canadian Press)—One of four men arrested on house-breaking charges, Charles Barham escaped from Toronto jail.

Placed in a jail corridor before being locked in a cell, Barham learned the name of a man asleep there. When several minor offenders were released on their own recognizance, police said Barham walked out, signed the sleeping man's name to a receipt for personal effects and went free.

Tough on Heus

Eatacada, Ore.—Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Duns never have purchased an egg during their 55 years of married life. Statisticians figure they have saved about $599.

Isolationists

Seattle—The Alpha Delta Phi fraternity brothers at the University of Washington are cold to the "open door policy". Anyway, they're cold.

Franksters stole their front door. Now the wind whistles through their house. And, to top it off, the cook served ice cream.

In these enlightened days the youthful swain doesn't have to write his own Valentine poem. All he has to do is to step into a store and say: How much?

HOLLYWOOD Sights and Sounds

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—The film colony's weekend horizon is continually expanding. More than ever before, Hollywood over Saturdays and Sundays is a "deserted village".

Every weekend automatically divides the stellar residents into two classes: those who are working, those who are not. For most of the latter, the exodus begins earlier than Saturday noon. For many of the former, Saturday noon means a quick getaway. Shortly after Saturday noon, the celebrity population of Hollywood is at its lowest ebb. Unless, during the Santa Anita racing season, you include Arcadia within the figurative boundaries of the colony.

A few years ago the big week-ending excursion was aimed at Malibu Beach. Malibu is a community of eight- and nine-room "cottages" about an hour's ride from the heart of Hollywood. Celebrities still go there, come Saturday, to relax, swim, sun, play beach games and stay up roasting weiners or bridge partners.

Hideouts Numerous

But Malibu now is just one of the pebbles on the recreation beach. Palm Springs, the desert resort, horned in first. Three hours from Hollywood—four if you take your time—Palm Springs boasts healthful beauty, ultra-ultra accommodations, and splendid isolation except for tourists and autograph hunters. From autumn until spring, each year, harried stars go there to get away from it all and be seen.

About a year ago, however, the famous of filmland began looking at maps and making startling discoveries, to wit, that there were Other Places! Unexplored, tucked away, intriguing, small places! So when you want to locate your favorite star on a Sunday morning you're up against it. Victorville (desert) and La Quinta (near Palm Springs) and Furnace Creek (in Death Valley) and Arrowhead (in the mountains) are just starters.

Ranch Attracts Some

Bob Montgomery's present favorite is Sun Valley, the Idaho winter sports resort. For a quick trip from here flying is essential. Dolores del Rio, Jeanette MacDonald, Joan Crawford and Franchot Tone make quick jaunts to the new B-Bar-H ranch, which other movie stars have since "discovered." The Marx brothers are Palm Springs addicts, but Clark Gable divides his free time between that resort, La Quinta, and half a dozen other spots.

Trade with Greenland has been a state monopoly of Denmark since 1776.

The Trojan war lasted 10 years.

Clinton Ave. Men Present Minstrel

On Tuesday and Wednesday nights, this week, the Clinton Avenue Men's Club will present its 6th annual minstrel show in the north hall, Clinton avenue and Liberty street. The show is under the direction of Raymond Parsells and promises to top all previous presentations.

Ray DuBois is the interlocutor, while the end men are Art Crist, Byron McGrath, (the youngest end-man in the world), Art (Pee-wee) Fatum, Ray Parsells, Jr., Chet Weeks and Loren Every. The personnel of the chorus is Vernon Miller, Milton Scheible, Joe Wicks, Bill Stall, Bert Pettenger, M. D. McGrath, Cliff Every, Bill Gerguson, Don Weeks, Don Curry, Don Britt, George Ross, Ed Myers, Gordon Craig, Jr., Herbert Every, Ken Snyder.

The first part of the program is as follows: Opening chorus by Ray DuBois; "I Ain't Got Nobody," Art Crist; "There's a Gold Mine in the Sky," Don Weeks; "You Can Be the Life of the Party," Loren Every; "Tramp, Tramp, Tramp," Vernon Miller; "You Can't Stop Me From Dreaming," Ray Parsells, Jr.; "When the Organ Played, Oh Promise Me," Milton Scheible; "K-K-K-Katy," Chet Weeks; "Specialty," Billy Anderson and Bobby Hines; "My Dream of the U.S.A.," Ray DuBois; "Show Me the Way to Go Home," Art (Pee-wee) Fatum; Closing chorus, en-

the cast.

The second part entitled, "Jawolin' Hours," has the following cast: Captain Stern, Bill Stall; Charles Smears; Milton Scheible; Wun Lung, Bert Pettenger; George Ray Parsells, Jr.; Cecelia, Eleanor Carey; Luana, Frances Parsells; Doris, Maisie Crist; Joan, Irene Pettenger; Natives, Grace Allton, Marion Davis, Kathryn Weeks, Gordon Craig, Jr., Herbert Every, Cliff Every.

One of the outstanding features of the evening will be the first appearance of Kingston's only all-girl orchestra of 18 pieces including the following: Violin, Mae Eckert, Evelyn Larios, Dorothy Schick, Edith Bell, Betty Matthews, Erma Tigar, Trumpet, Anna Atkins, Emilie Landers, Shirley Doyle, Bessie Levy; Clarinet, Marion Olenaus; Margaret Culver, Charlotte Smith; Saxophone, Edna McHugh; Flute, Joan Craig; Drums, Emily Atkins; Evelyn Fatum; Piano, Mrs. Ida Parsells.

The doors will be open at 7:30 and the show will begin at 8:15 p. m. The public is cordially invited to attend.

Sage Superstitions

An actress must find or have a rabbit's foot given her; it is fatal to buy one. It is bad luck to whistle in the dressing room or put shoes on a shelf. An umbrella opened over a head is, of course, the worst kind of a thing—but it is all right to open it downwards. Cats bring good luck, especially black ones. A potato in the pocket shields from misfortune. Next to breaking a mirror, bringing peacock feathers into the theater is a calamity, and many an actor will grow faint at the sight of one.

GUILTY WRIGHT COMFORTED BY ATTORNEY

This dramatic picture shows Jerry Geisler comforting his client, Paul Wright, after the latter had been found guilty of manslaughter for killing his wife, Evelyn, and John Kimmel last November. The jury that convicted him will also judge Wright's plea of not guilty by reason of insanity. If they find that he was temporarily insane on the night of the slayings, he will be freed.

Home ownership versus rent-families in all parts of the United States. In half the village groups studied, more of the families interviewed at random were owners of a nationwide house-to-house canvass of 22,644 native white than renters; in half, more were renters than owners. Highest percentage of home ownership was in the Michigan and Wisconsin villages where 58 per cent of the families owned their homes.

Valentine
While you are with others
Try and think of me.
But while you go with others
You can't go with me.

Arizona often is called the "Valentine" State, since it was admitted to the Union on February 14, 1912.

Gentlemen, The Line Forms to The Right

Now, Eve had Adam—Jack had Jill—and so on down the line. It seems that every person had a much loved Valentine. I know I have a lot of nerve. I couldn't be called spinster; but, somehow, I can't get a man. I'm really Valentine-less. And, gee! At this time of the year, the fact becomes quite tragic. But how I'll land one I don't know, unless I use some magic. So if somewhere today you sit alone and moan and pine, this invitation is for you: Please be My Valentine!

LYLA MEYERS
Income taxes could be a lot worse. Suppose we had to pay on what we think we are worth.

Amile—And what will you do when you grow up to be a great big girl?
Little Edith—Reduce.

Probably some girls would be agreeably surprised if they would forget to smear lipstick on their lips and appear in their natural charm. Not many girls are good artists when it comes to painting their lips.

Police Lieutenant—Officer, that great singer has been threatened and I want you to accompany him while he is in town.
Officer—I'll do my best, Lieutenant. I'm rather good on the harmonica.

It is useless to be good unless you are good for something.

Karl—I call my girl a "Golf Bug."

Fred—For what ungodly reason?

Karl—It's her ambition to go around in as little as possible.

Read it or not:
The observance of Valentine Day on February 14, as a lovers' festival arose from the belief that birds mated on that day in early spring.

Mrs. Smith—Mrs. Hanson has a new Spring hat she bought in town last Saturday.
Mr. Smith—now if Mrs. Hanson was as good looking as you, Mary, she wouldn't have to depend so much on the milliner.

The honeymoon is over when the bride complains of the noise the husband makes in getting his breakfast.

Jean—Did you see in the paper that a young couple were poisoned from eating chocolate?
Jack—Yes, what about it?
Jean—Oh, nothing, only I was just thinking how safe we both are.

A doughnut is never considered ragged even if it does have a hole in it.

The modern boy seems to look upon a girl's goodnight kiss as a parting favor.

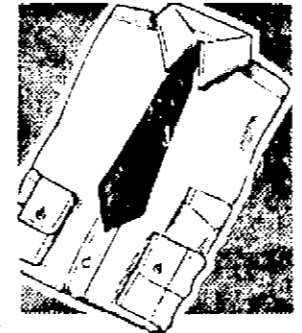

Man—Does your wife ever brag about you?
Friend—Sometimes, out in company, but she always goes to a lot of trouble to deflate me when I get home.

If you worked half as hard as you tell your wife you work, that would be something.

(The Moss Feature Syndicate, Greensboro, N. C.)

The most beautiful and probably the most important member of the quartz family is the Amethyst, varying in color from royal purple to the lightest shades of purple, and from brownish pink to light pink and lilac. The Amethyst is the birthstone for February.

New "Honeymoon Bridge"

Niagara Falls, N. Y., Feb. 14 (AP)—Plans for a new $1,500,000 "Honeymoon Bridge" spanning towering Niagara gorge were in preparation today. A new single deck span will be erected to replace the one wrecked by ice flows last month. Bernard Yungbluth, president of the International Railway Company announced last night. The company owned the collapsed span, which wreckers are now salvaging.

For Valentine Day, Dan Cupid this year does all sorts of clever tricks with hearts as the design motif. A broad silver heart becomes a mirror for a modern dresser. Hearts of satin, delicately perfumed, bear letter greetings. Frolic hearts pattern each corner of a gay card or dot the entire background, and there are no heart-shaped missives aplenty.

Salvation Army Value Attested to By Many Citizens

The Hon. Bernard A. Culliton, general chairman of the 1933 maintenance appeal for the Salvation Army, said today that since the announcement of the drive for funds, many testimonials regarding the work of the army have been received. The campaign will be held from February 18 to March 4.

Mayor Conrad J. Hirschman has submitted the following statement: "It has been my privilege to observe certain activities of the Salvation Army in Kingston which particularly impress me. One phase of their work, that of teaching mothers not only how to make children's garments but also how to repair and conserve those which they have, seems to me most worthwhile. I believe that the concern of the Army for supplying the children of our city with clothing, food, and proper home life, is worthy of our attention and support."

Mrs. LeRoy Wood, Kingston, has among its many advantages a "Clearing House" for all welfare cases where agencies can check to be sure that their efforts are not overlapping that of some other agency. Mrs. LeRoy Wood, director of this Social Service Exchange, 408 Broadway says: "In order to prevent duplication, especially during the holiday season, the Salvation Army cooperates with the Social Service Exchange, by clearing the cases that are brought to their attention."

Miss Jessie P. Allen, The cheering heart of the Salvation Army as it reaches out to the sick in hospitals is acclaimed by Miss Jessie P. Allen, superintendent of the Kingston Hospital. "The Salvation Army is an asset in any community. Many hospital patients receive assistance from the Army. This may be spiritual, mental or physical but hospital authorities have learned that any calls of whatsoever nature, are promptly and gladly answered by the adjunct and his fellow officers."

Sheriff's Statement For its work among prisoners, Abraham P. Molyneux, sheriff of Ulster County has this to say:

Ladies' HOUSE DRESSES ALL SIZES Reg. $1, now 84c Also Priced at $1.95, $1.79 S. SARKIES 29 EAST STRAND OPEN EVENINGS

"The Salvation Army, for a number of years, have held religious services in the Ulster county jail on Sunday afternoons. These services together with the music with which they are accompanied are very much enjoyed by the jail inmates and are looked forward to each week. I really believe that these services are helpful in more ways than one."

J. L. Hoffman And from the superintendent of the state of New York, Department of Correction, J. L. Hoffman, comes this enlightening statement of services rendered to parolees: "Permit me to thank you for the 500 pounds of candy that was sent to this institution by the Salvation Army. Same was delivered to the inmates for Christmas, and was deeply appreciated by them."

"In addition to this, the Salvation Army Service has been very valuable. At various times inmates are approved for parole, who have no home or relatives, and at all times the Social Service Department of the Salvation Army has been willing to take them into their care and observation until such time that a permanent job is secured and a home established."

"As the head of an institution, it would seem to me that without the service of the Salvation Army it would almost be impossible to function successfully without their aid and service."

Miss Anne Heany The services given for school children is highly spoken of by Miss Anne Heany, attendance officer.

"On my daily rounds as attendance officer of the public schools of Kingston, I have found many pathetic cases of dire distress. On several occasions I have called on my good friends, the members and officers of our local post of the Salvation Army, and on every appeal I have received unstinted support and it was due the residents of Kingston to let them know what these people think of the Salvation Army's work, as they are all in strategic positions for acquiring accurate information."

John J. Flinerty And by John J. Flinerty, principal of School No. 7. "In times of stress and need it is gratifying to know that we have the Salvation Army."

"For the past several years, the many kind acts and the splendid cooperation accorded me, principal of P. S. No. 7, by the Army prompts me to subscribe to its worth while appeal to the citizenry of Kingston."

Mr. Culliton said, that he felt

Parent-Teacher Association Creek Locks The P. T. A. of the Creek Locks School held its monthly meeting Monday evening on February 7.

Mrs. Frank Rowe presided. Following the business meeting Founder's Day was celebrated. Mrs. Joseph Craig, president of the Kingston Federation, as guest speaker, gave a very interesting talk on the P. T. A. projects. Founder's Day was celebrated with a birthday cake designating the 41st birthday. Several members participated in a candlelighting ceremony in tribute to those who organized the P. T. A.

A collection was taken up for Founder's Day, after which a social hour and refreshments of coffee, cake and ice cream were served. Counterfeit paper money is more than $90 years old, and samples of the first "phonies" will be on display at the 1933 Golden Gate International Exposition in San Francisco.

New Floods Drive Out Michigan Folk; West Coast Suffers

Detroit, Feb. 14 (AP)—New Michigan floods over the weekend drove hundreds of families from their dwellings, blocked highways and caused damage far more serious than last week's inundations.

The property loss at Mt. Clemens alone was more than $100,000, Mayor Donald K. Westendorf said. The Clinton river at that point went on the worst rampage in 35 years, inundating more than 700 acres within the city.

Grand Rapids, Lansing, Flint, Pontiac, Utica, Rochester and Ionia were suffering from overflowing streams but their conditions were not to be compared with those prevailing at Mt. Clemens where approximately 400 houses were surrounded by water and refugee stations had to be set up.

A relentless February thaw and torrents of rain caused the latest overflow of Michigan rivers.

Much colder weather was forecast for today and it appeared immediate relief might result.

In the Grand Rapids area the tributaries of the swollen Grand river began to recede early this morning but it was feared the relief would be only temporary. Many blocks of Grand Rapids industrial and residential property were covered with water.

No fatalities, injuries reported from any point in the state although several narrow escapes were recorded at Mt. Clemens where rescue work was done on a large scale.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Card and their young son and daughter were thrown into icy water Sunday as a rowboat in which they were fleeing from their Mt. Clemens home hit a tree and overturned. The daughter, Margaret, 11, who had been ill and running a high fever was compelled to cling to tree branches with the others in the family until another boat got to them 30 minutes later.

Van Wallace, the Mt. Clemens invalid who has been in bed 14 years suffering from a neck fracture, was rescued Sunday at 3 a. m. when water two feet deep surrounded the house. An ambulance was driven up to the porch. An hour later water stood six feet deep in the Wallace driveway and the porch was washed away.

Pacific Coast Weary

San Francisco, Feb. 14 (AP)—The Pacific coast, wearied by a prolonged siege of rain, snow and high winds that has caused nearly a score of deaths, disrupted communications, halted rail and highway traffic and harassed shipping, had in prospect today—more rain, snow and high winds.

In northern California, where the storm entered its 19th consecutive day, floods which have already inundated several low-lying areas threatened to spread.

From Bridgeport, in eastern California, came a report of the latest known storm victim—Tony Sparcelevich, a miner, crushed to death in an avalanche.

Heavy rains along the upper Sacramento river heightened apprehension in the Colusa-Sacramento area, where levees were weakened and some 25,000 acres of rich farm land already inundated.

Train service was halted between San Francisco and Portland yesterday by what Southern Pacific officials said was the most severe blizzard in several years.

Snowstorms also beset the mountainous areas of Colorado.

Snowplows extricated a Denver and Rio Grande passenger train marooned more than 24 hours atop 10,015-foot Cumbres Pass in the Southern Colorado Rockies.

The train, bearing 14 passengers and six trainmen, was due in Durango, Colo., today.

The passengers suffered no ill effects from their experience, since there was plenty of food aboard, and steam from the two locomotives furnished heat.

Train Eskimo Puppies to Grow into Good Pullers

The famous Eskimo dogs of the Arctic are adopted into the Eskimo family when puppies by a sort of ceremonial massage, each having his legs pulled and stretched so that he may run well, his back kneaded, so that he may be strong to carry a burden. They pull his ears and whisper into them to make his hearing keen; blow their breath into his nostrils to make him keen-scented and able to follow a trail, and to discover seal holes under the snow.

Then a name is given to the puppy, a small harness put on him, and he is tied to a post or some heavy article so that probably the first thing he learns is how to pull. Pulling will be his main work all his life, writes C. E. Whitaker in London Public Opinion.

If it is winter, the puppy and its mother will have a small snow-house, with dry grass, or an old skin with fur on it, to keep them warm. If it is very cold, they may be taken into the house for a time. If the family needs to travel the woman may put a puppy in her bootleg, which is quite wide, or in the hood of her coat, beside her own baby, to keep it warm. And always they talk to it as though it were a child.

The puppy may be named for any relative of its master or mistress. The name may serve for a man, for a girl baby, or for a puppy. The name of a dead relation is most often used. Thus a man may say to his wife: "Tie up my grandfather," meaning she is to tie up the dog whose name is that of his grandfather. The puppy is kept tied up until he is well grown. As he is often straining to get away, or to go somewhere, pulling becomes a fixed habit, and as he pulls he grows in usefulness.

Oldest European Settlement
Ciudad Trujillo—formerly Santo Domingo—is the oldest European settlement in this hemisphere, having been founded by Bartolome, a brother of Christopher Columbus, in 1496. There are ancient buildings which have been standing since the days of Columbus. These include the first Christian church in America, San Nicolas de Bari, erected in 1505, the tower of Homage, once the prison of Columbus, the Alcazar de los Colon, the palace of the Columbus family, built by Diego Colon, viceroy of the West Indies and son of the discoverer. Outstanding is the cathedral of Santo Domingo, construction of which was begun in 1514 and completed in 1540. In the cathedral is the tomb of Columbus.

Kiva Secret Guarded
In each of the New Mexico pueblos are one or more community houses, called "kivas," where are held the secret ceremonies of the tribe. Entrance is through a hole in the top by means of a ladder made of two saplings. What goes on in the kivas is largely conjecture, as far as the white man is concerned, because no entrance is permitted. Boys are trained in kivas for long periods, but of just what their training consists is not known outside of the tribe.

Portraitist Supreme
Rembrandt, 1606-1669, was a Dutch miller's son who became the greatest portraitist in history of art. He was a huge success at twenty-one. For years he lavished great wealth on his family and friends, and paid extravagant sums for other artists' pictures. One by one he lost love, riches, family, prestige. He died alone and forgotten in Amsterdam slums. He loved to paint himself, and friends dressed in "prop" costumes from his studio.

Wedding Ring Customs
There are many customs connected with the wedding ring among different peoples of the world, yet it would seem that all the wedding ring ideas had a common origin, which is shrouded in mystery. Among the Zulus there is a custom, called Khebia, of wearing a ring on the head. It is made of polished wax and worked in with the hair. As soon as a Zulu marries he wears the ring and he discards it only for a time if one of his wives dies.

"DIXIE" COMES TO NEW YORK

J. Richard "Dixie" Davis, long sought by New York city authorities on a policy racket indictment, returned to that city after being captured in a Philadelphia apartment. The erstwhile attorney for the late "Dutch" Schultz is shown (left) at police headquarters, with glowering George Weinberg who was captured with Davis.

G-Man at School No. 2
Arthur Russell, principal of Public School No. 2, expects a large gathering of fathers at the special P. T. A. meeting on Friday, February 18 at 8 o'clock. R. F. Vetterli, special agent in charge, Federal Bureau of Investigation, will send an agent to address the P. T. A. members and friends. Kingston's Chief of Police J. Allan Wood will represent Kingston and welcome the New York G-

Man. There will be time for questions from older boys.
Britain will complete three 35,000-ton battleships this year.

Multitudes Mourn Shokan School William O'Reilly Notes of Month

James Connelly, Albert Waible, Louis Hartman, William Barry, the Rev. Thomas O'Flanagan of Phoenix, the Rev. Thomas P. Larkin of New York, the Rev. Thomas Temple of New York, the Rev. Michael Fitzgerald, chaplain of Our Lady of Victory Chapel at the Benedictine Hospital; the Rev. Henry E. Herdogen of St. Peter's Church, Kingston, the Rev. Daniel J. Fant of East Kingston, the Rev. John D. Simmons, St. Joseph's Church, Kingston.

Delegations at the funeral represented the Holy Name Society of St. Mary's Church, Fourth Degree Assembly, Knights of Columbus and a group from the employees of the O'Reilly stores.

Bearers, all members of the Fourth Degree Assembly, K. of C., were E. Frank Flanagan, James Byrne, William B. Byrne, J. David Schenck, William Cashin and Thomas O'Hara. As they carried the casket from the church to the house, the Fourth Degree with swords drawn gave an honorary salute.

The funeral cortege to St. Mary's Cemetery, one of the longest in the history of Kingston, was accompanied by members of the clergy who took part in pronouncing final absolution at the grave. Among the priests at the cemetery were the Rev. Fathers Kennedy, Moore, McCarthy, Connelly, Waible, Larkin and Temple.

As the body of Mr. O'Reilly lay in state, more than 2,000 called at his Pine Grove avenue home to express sympathy to the bereaved family. Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Mary Leonard O'Reilly and four sons, Dr. Charles J. Leonard Jr., William J. and Edwin J. O'Reilly, and two sisters, Mrs. John McDade and Mrs. Lucy Bishop.

The casket was banked by flowers from relatives, friends and business associates many of whom knew and regarded him as one of this city's leaders in the commercial field over the entire 42 years of his progressive career as a stationer.

Delegations from fraternal, business and spiritual organizations calling at the home were United Commercial Travelers, Elks, Knights of Columbus, St. Mary's Holy Name Society, Central Business Men's Association, Rotary Club, which had 190 per cent attendance, the Paid Firemen's Association and dentists from Ulster and Greene counties.

A Gold Chalice. On the casket was a gold chalice, the usual token from the Fourth Degree Assembly, K. of C., to be given to a missionary priest, whose prayers in every Mass will be for the repose of the soul of Mr. O'Reilly.

In the death of Mr. O'Reilly Kingston lost one of its most progressive citizens, interested not alone in the growth of his own business but in the good of the city, whose public he had served well from a humble beginning that led him to become one of the leading business men with stores on central Broadway and John street.

The O'Reilly stationery business will be carried on by his sons, as a corporation.

6 Weeks of War Games. Los Angeles, Feb. 14 (AP).—The United States fleet—175 ships and 547 airplanes—is making ready for six weeks of grim war games. March 14 is the most powerful fighting machine America ever sent to sea moves into the Pacific under a commander-in-chief, Admiral Claude Charles Bloch.

William J. Hume Dies. Rome, Feb. 14 (AP).—William J. Hume, 48, of Walkerville, Ontario, president of the Hiram Walker Distillery Company, died suddenly at his Rome hotel last night.

Shokan, Feb. 14.—Pupils of the Shokan School (Olive district No. 2) who had a perfect attendance record for the month of January are as follows: Edward Grossman, Harry Personous, Robert Robeson, Sandra Pfau and Velma Personous. The highest honor pupils are Robert Robeson and Edward Leyder, while those credited with "best efforts" are Betty Tyler, Harry Personous and Robert Robeson. New names on the school membership roll this term are Betty LaMothe and Richard Phillips, from New York and Ashokan respectively.

New officers of the True Blue Club of the school, elected at the bi-weekly meeting on Thursday afternoon, February 3, are the following: President, Robert Robeson; vice president, Lena Burgher; secretary, Edward Leyder, and treasurer, Margaret Grossman. New business transacted at the meeting included plans for a Valentine party on Monday, February 14, at the schoolhouse. Committees on refreshments and games were Margaret Grossman and Robert Robeson.

The windows of the auditorium of the schoolhouse have been redecorated for the month of February, all of the pupils taking part in this work. Current projects include compositions and a booklet on Lincoln. Geography projects for the third grade are salt and flour maps of zones; fifth grade, New York state; sixth grade, South America. Project for second term, "Gaskins." Children kept from their classes by illness recently were Sandra Pfau and Robert Robeson.

51st Pioneer Units Hold Meeting

Preliminary plans in connection with the holding of the fifteenth annual reunion of the fifty-first Pioneer Infantry Association in Albany on September 11 of this year, were discussed at a meeting of members of the association of the Albany companies in Albany on Sunday afternoon. Otto Rauch of Delmar was named general chairman of the reunion committee with power to appoint other officers to serve with him. The meeting was held in the 10th Infantry Armory on Washington street and was attended by Alderman Eugene Cornwell, secretary, and Patrolman Peter Keresman, treasurer, of the association, of this city.

INNED UNDERNEATH WHEN CAR UPSETS

William H. Warwick of Alban and a companion had a narrow escape from injury Saturday night when the Ford touring car driven by Warwick turned over on the Zena road. The car failed to negotiate a sharp curve, left the road and striking a stump, turned completely over, coming to rest upside down. A passing automobilist later released the imprisoned men.

Sunday noon Warwick reported to the sheriff's office that after he had left his wrecked car Saturday night someone had visited it and stolen a number of articles, including a tire, set of new chains and a hub cap.

Splashed Pedestrians, Fined. Herkimer, N. Y., Feb. 14 (AP).—Lyttel F. Hauger of Scotia was $5 poorer today because he drove his automobile through a puddle and splashed two pedestrians. Hauger was overtaken and arrested by state police after two women complained his car had splashed them with muddy water in East Herkimer. Justice of the Peace George E. Graves fined Hauger $5 on a speeding charge.

at Union Theological Seminary, New York, who said he spoke as social action chairman of the National Council of Methodist Youth. His organization, he said, was pledged not to fight in any war in the Orient.

Committeemen questioned him closely, saying they regarded his testimony as important because he represented a section of American youth.

He told them he would not bear arms to defend the United States against a Japanese invasion. Fish said immediately after he took the witness chair that any youth who would not fight to protect the United States "ought to be put in jail."

Catholics Persecuted. Munich, Feb. 14 (AP).—Michael Cardinal Von Faulhaber, archbishop of Munich, reading Mass at three Munich churches yesterday, asserted that despite Nazi denials, Catholics are being persecuted in Germany. The statement was made on the occasion of the 16th anniversary of the coronation of Pope Pius XI.

Four States Have Less Than 150 Sq. Mi. Water

Continental United States contains 3,026,789 square miles of which 53,015 square miles are covered with water, notes a correspondent in the Portland Oregonian. This is exclusive of the water of the Great Lakes, the Gulf of Mexico and the oceans, which are not entirely under United States jurisdiction.

There are only six states having wholly within them more than 3,000 square miles of water—Minnesota, 3,824; Florida, 3,805; North Carolina, 3,686; Texas, 3,498; Maine, 3,145; and Louisiana, 3,097. On the other hand, there are four states having less than 150 square miles of water wholly within their borders—New Mexico, 131; Connecticut, 145; Arizona, 148; and West Virginia, 148.

However, New Mexico is the fourth state in the United States in size, with a total of 122,634 square miles, while Connecticut is forty-sixth, with a total of 4,965 square miles. If Connecticut contained water in the same proportion as New Mexico, there would be only five and one-third square miles of water in the state.

Families Would Support Convicts In Moffat Bill

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 14 (AP)—The family of a convict would be required to bear the cost of maintaining him in a state prison under a plan advocated today by Republican Assemblyman Abbot Low Moffat.

At the same time he urged an amendment to the state charities law to permit the state to obtain similar reimbursement from families for the maintenance of inmates committed to state institutions in the department of social welfare.

The proposals were two of six measures the New York city legislator said he would introduce in the legislature immediately to carry out recommendations of the joint legislative committee on state fiscal policies.

Other of Moffat's proposals would: Require the director of the budget to survey various "special services" performed by the state, such as public campsites, etc., to determine "the feasibility of making such services wholly or partly self-supporting."

Eliminate the requirement for mechanical ventilation in public school buildings, requiring instead "adequate and proper ventilation."

Suspend further operations of the New York State Power Authority pending ratification of the St. Lawrence development treaty with Canada, on which the fiscal committee reported "its further effectiveness is contingent."

Require submission of claims and vouchers by localities seeking reimbursement within six months of expenditure.

St. James Street Fire Early Today

Fire broke out about 2:30 o'clock this morning in the apartments of Mildred Ploss on the second floor of the two family apartment house at 26 East St. James street, owned by the Flicker estate, and before the fire was brought under control at 5 o'clock considerable damage had been done to the household furnishings and the upper part of the house.

According to the fire department the fire originated on a day-earthen in the living room and spread to the ceiling and up into the attic. When the firemen were called on a still alarm fire was pouring out of the windows.

The fire department laid a line of hose and after fighting the fire for over two hours brought it under control.

The first floor of the apartment house is occupied by Charles Helyea.

Will Help Tax Throngs Of County

Mr. Beck's views on employer and employee relationships and especially the interest which educators manifest in his case presentation of the qualities of character which are necessary to a successful business career, the Exchange has permitted him to devote much of his time to addressing interested groups throughout the country.

Some idea of the demand for Mr. Beck's services may be had from a record of last year's activities. He made 250 addresses in 20 states before high schools, colleges, service clubs, bankers' associations and women's clubs, speaking in a total of about 200,000 hearers.

Cameron Beck's simple, straightforward recital of the experiences are a revelation and reassurance to those who have lost faith in the character of the business leadership of the present, or who are fearful of what it will be in the future.

New Kiwanis Officers.
The new officers to be installed are: Paul A. Zucca, president; Edward M. Huben, vice president; Harry Ensign, treasurer; and R.

Frederick Childsey, secretary. Directors for three years who will receive the charge of office are: Henry D. Barnes, N. Jansen Fowler and Samuel J. Messinger. Other directors, previously installed, are: Two years, J. Richard Shultz and George R. Rindell; one year, Joseph F. Deegan and Clarence L. Dumm.

Tickets are available to the public and are priced nominally. They may be obtained from R. Frederick Childsey, telephone 2428, or from any member of Kiwanis.

J. W. Carson Held On Assault Charge

In answer to a call to the sheriff's office from Richmond Park Saturday afternoon, Sergeant Cunningham, Trooper Keefe, Corporal Mahoney and Deputy Sheriff Brown went to the Carson home, where Sergeant Cunningham placed under arrest Willard Carson, 37.

On complaint of his wife, Carson was arraigned before Justice John Watzka of East Kingston on a charge of assault in the third degree. He was committed to the Ulster county jail pending a hearing before Justice Watzka tonight, but later bail in the amount of $500 was furnished and he was released.

Chosen Directors
At the annual election of directors of the Saugerties Manufacturing Company of Saugerties, Pa., an L. Russell, Helen Snyder Russell and Robert A. Snyder were elected directors. David R. Van Aken and Randall Hendrickson are inspectors of election.

OLD ART FOLLOWED BY BELL CASTERS

Expert Declares Real Secret Lies in Tuning.

Vancouver.—Frank C. Godfrey belongs to one of the most ancient and rarest professions in the world. He designs, tunes and installs church bells.

Godfrey recently visited Vancouver to supervise the installation of eight new bells presented to St. James Anglican church. No one on the North American continent had the experience to undertake the job so Godfrey made his twenty-first transatlantic trip from England to hang the chimes in the tower of St. James.

The young bell expert represents John Taylor & Co., of Loughborough, England, one of the few firms of bell founders in the world. The foundry had been making bells since 1360.

In Family Since 1780.

The Taylor bell foundry was established in medieval days by Johannes de Stafford, but since 1780 has been conducted by the Taylor family, and has supplied bells and chimes and carillons to all parts of the world.

According to Godfrey, there has never been any real rivalry for the English product. He says that the whole secret lies in tuning. To tune the notes in each bell of a carillon is a long and costly process and is regarded as the apex of the bell founders' art.

Godfrey describes the bell casting process as follows: "The molds are made from a porous mixture of loam, specially made at the Loughborough works. The loam must be perfectly dry to prevent an explosion. The boiling mass of bronze is poured into the mold from a huge ladle of 20 tons capacity. Pouring of the molten metals takes only four minutes, but seven days are allowed for cooling.

Gases Seep Out. The boiling liquid generates numerous gases which are not allowed to bubble to the surface, but seep out through the porous loam core of the mold into a pipe, emitting an unpleasant odor.

Godfrey says that only three bells have had to be recast during his time with the firm.

Before the Vancouver job he installed a 47-bell carillon at Luray, Va., and last year he installed a carillon of 53 bells at the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor.

The carillon comprises at least two chromatic octaves of 25 bells and may be extended to a range of five octaves, or even more.

The chime is a limited number of bells, which play single-note melodies. The minimum range of the chime is the eight bells of the diatonic scale. They may be increased

Muscles and Menus to Be Streamlined in Britain

London.—The British government's national fitness campaign is going to affect not only muscles but menus.

Much of the physical unfitness of the English people is attributed to unsuitable and badly cooked food. The ministry of health and the board of education are considering how the better and wide teaching of cookery can be linked with the physical culture movement.

It is expected steps will be taken to encourage the provision of more evening cookery centers for adults and the better patronage of those already in existence.

Many girls now go from school to work in shops, offices, or factories. By the time they are married they have forgotten most that they learned about cooking and dietetics at school. It is this gap between school life and marriage that the ministry of health and the board of trade will attempt to bridge.

Clock of 1656, Buried in Wars, Still Is Ticking On

Duluth, Minn.—A 261-year-old clock, buried on several occasions during the wars between the French and English in colonial days and again during the Revolutionary war, still is running and keeping good time for Mrs. W. S. Storer.

During the Revolutionary war it served as a timepiece for Maj. Andrew Finck, who was chief of staff under General Lafayette.

The clock was made in 1656 by William Threlkeld, a Swede, who had learned the clock-making trade in Holland, moved to London and became the greatest clockmaker of his day.

Clock Owners Liable to Fine If Time Errs

London.—The town of Guildford, Surrey county, has begun a campaign to end the nuisance of being tardy because of street clocks which tell the wrong time.

Owners of public clocks not registering the correct time will be liable to fines of $25 and a daily fine of $10 thereafter under a general powers bill to be presented to parliament next session.

State gasoline taxes in 1937 yielded the Texas public school fund $10,236,462, the highway construction and maintenance fund $20,532,927 and the county and road district indebtedness fund $10,236,462.

O. O. McIntyre Died Today

which brought him fame and fortune as one of the highest-paid newspaper writers in the world.

The sledding was hard, at first. McIntyre began the column as a press agent "blurb" for a New York hotel, in return for his room and board. He gave it away free, seeking to have it circulated. Gradually it caught on until it was syndicated from coast to coast—read over thousands of breakfast tables by newspaper subscribers who felt they knew New York, even if they had never seen it, through the daily jottings of "O. O."

Never Fattered at Stint.

In later years, he was accused of portraying a New York which no longer existed but which represented the idea of "Baghdad on the Subway" to the nation's hinterland millions.

He never fattered at his daily stint, although he frequently complained that it was the most soul-trying task in the world. His regular column, written in Samuel Pepys manner he sometimes assumed, appeared this morning.

By coincidence, the opening paragraph spoke of his beloved Gallipoli, where he had built a fine home in the off-remembered hope of some day "going back."

Thus he wrote: "Then palavering with Ward Morehouse about his recent stop-over in Gallipoli." Although McIntyre typified the "typical New Yorker" to his legions of readers, he never pretended to the veneer of New York sophistication. He took pride, rather, in being a "small town boy" who was forever fascinated by the passing scene of the "big city."

MOTHER ARRESTS DAUGHTER ON DISORDERLY CHARGE

Cora White, 23, of 80 Bruyn Avenue, was arrested by her mother, Mrs. Maude Krum, on Saturday afternoon. The mother charged the daughter with disorderly conduct. This morning before Judge Cahill in police court the daughter entered a plea of not guilty. She said the trouble started when her mother wanted her to leave the house and she had no other place to go. Judge Cahill imposed a fine of $5. The mother was not in court when the daughter was arraigned.

County Firemen Guests of Local Firemen Tuesday

The Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association will be the guests of the Central Hook and Ladder Company, of this city, on Tuesday evening at the regular monthly meeting. The business meeting will be held in the council chambers in the city hall. Afterward firemen will adjourn to the Central Fire Station where an entertainment is planned and refreshments will be served.

The firemen and their guests will be asked to show their membership card after the meeting in the city hall to enjoy the social time and refreshments.

J. H. Summers, president of the New York State Board of Fire Underwriters, G. M. Gilkinson, assistant engineer of the State Board of Fire Underwriters, and C. H. Jamison, superintendent of the licensing bureau of the insurance department of the state, will be the guests of the evening.

Chief Dhouder-Amadihur, principal entertainer to the Rajah of Afghanistan, Court of the Orient, will entertain the firemen with his bag of tricks.

The local firemen have spared no effort to make the meeting here Tuesday evening a most enjoyable one.
